

HANGED HIMSELF FRONTENAC HOTEL

Man Accused of Conspiracy Com- mitted Suicide

BRUNSWICK, Me., Oct. 5.—(Preferring death to disgrace and imprisonment, Sylvester Campbell, who was arrested here Saturday, charged with subornation of perjury, hanged himself in his cell about 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

The perjury charge was only one of several which were brought against him Saturday evening. Convicted Joseph E. F. Connolly in a talk with Campbell at the jail told him that in addition to two perjury charges he would be charged with serious offenses against his two little daughters,
Bertha, aged 10 and 8 respectively.

He would also have been tried on the charge of conspiracy against his brother, Millard F. Campbell, who is now in the Portland jail awaiting sentence having been convicted on the charge of feloniously assaulting Sylvester's wife. Millard will be given a new trial as soon as the necessary forfeitures can be gone through, and his acquittal is looked for, as Sylvester by his suicide apparently confesses that the charge he brought against his brother was false.

Sylvester Campbell was arrested
Saturday noon. Deputy Sheriff John Leonard was instructed to take the prisoner to Portland on the electric car leaving Brunswick at 8.15 yesterday morning. There Campbell was to be given the third degree in an effort to secure a confession from him in regard to the charges that had been made.

During the night Officers John Fortun and August St. Pierre of the night shift paid frequent visits to the lockup, but noticed nothing wrong with the prisoner. These officers went off duty about 5 o'clock yesterday morning and from that time until 5 the lockup was not entered.

At 8 o'clock Officer Herbert L. Robertson, who is the keeper of the building, entered to see that Campbell had something to eat before he left for Portland. He found Campbell hanging from a chain. The body was still warm and in the opinion of Dr.
E. Gordon, who was at once summoned, the man could not have been dead more than an hour.

Campbell had worked free the chain which held one end of the upper bunk in place and with this he had made a noose which he placed around the bars of the cell, just above the door. The officer found him with his toes just touching the floor. How he actually did the deed is not known, two theories being advanced. One is that he stood on top of the bunk and then adjusted the noose, after which he drew his knees up and slowly strangled to death. The other is that he fitted the noose around his neck as he lay in the bunk and then rolled off.

FUNERALS

OHLSON.—The funeral of Helen J.
Ohlson was held yesterday from her late residence in East Chelmsford and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Benedict Nilsson, pastor of the Swedish M. E. church, conducted a very impressive service and Miss Gerda Laurin and Victor Hedlund sang appropriate selections. The

The Case Will Go to the Jury This Afternoon

The trial of the Frontenac hotel case was resumed before Judge Lawton at East Cambridge this morning and the testimony was along the same lines as on Friday. It is expected that the case will be given to the jury before the afternoon adjournment.

The Waverly hotel case is next in order.

SUPERIOR COURT

Civil Session Opened by Judge White Today

The October sitting of the superior civil court was opened this morning at ten o'clock at the court house in Gorham street. The docket is a very long one and the session promises to be lengthy. Judge Lloyd E. White is presiding.

After the opening of court, Clerk Ralph Smith read the names of the jurors and later the oath was administered. Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham street Methodist church.

The reading of the docket occupied almost an hour's time. As a general rule at the opening of the session of the court in this city counsel are not ready with any cases for trial and ask for a continuance from one to four or five weeks, but this morning the majority of the cases were ready for trial.
Several cases were non-suited, while others which are in the course of settlement out of court were placed at the bottom of the list.

While motions were being argued one of the jurors, Benjamin F. Manning, of Reading, collapsed and had to be carried out of the court room. He recovered later however, and was made foreman of the jury in the first case.

Five of the jurors asked to be excused and the court excused two of them, namely: Bernard F.
Doucette, Wilmington, who is hard of hearing and Edward F. Spaulding, of this city, who is in ill health. The other three were excused subject to call. The jury list is as follows:

Edward E. Adams, music teacher,
Lowell; Sam Asquith, bookkeeper, Lowell; Arthur J. Batchelder, painter, North Reading; Charles B. Boudry, organ piper, Reading; Joseph E.

Blodgett, clerk, Billerica; J. W. Brennan, clerk, Draught; John Brown, operative, Billerica; Joseph H. Call, retired, Billerica; Walter S. Campbell, salesman, North Reading; George C. Carney, clerk, Draught; Warren E. Carlin, engineer, Westford; Sydney Davis, farmer, Carlisle; William A. Delmage, janitor, Lowell; Bernard J. Doucette, clerk, Wilmington; Frank H. Farmer, clerk, Tewksbury; J. Willard Fletcher, farmer, Westford; Frank J. Foote, merchant, Chelmsford; C. A. Gendreau, wire worker, Draught; Chester H. Graham, farmer, Burlington; William S.
Green, mechanic, Ashby; William S.
Jones, laborer, Tewksbury; James S.
Kellee, clerk, Wilmington; Benj. E.
Manning, nurseryman, Reading; John McCarthy, farmer, Acton; John Rowers, teamster, Lowell; Granville J.
Quinn, farmer, Tyngsboro; Ruben B.
Rice, farmer, Tewksbury; George D.
Richardson, painter, Ashby; Charles O.
Robbins, farmer, Chelmsford; Joseph Rounds, farmer, Carlisle; Ruben B.
Sherburne, assistant station agent,
Tyngsboro; Orrey S. Skellon, farmer, Burlington; Edward F. Spaulding, gentleman, Lowell; Herbert C. Stock, contractor, Reading; Herbert C.
Sweetser, merchant, Chelmsford;
James B. Tuttle, farmer, Acton; Joseph L. Wilde, warp dresser.

The first case called was that of Ciammarchella vs. Boston Elevated. It is an action of tort, the plaintiff declaring that while driving a wagon through Somerville a car belonging to the defendant company ran into the wagon, knocked him from the seat, that he suffered great injury and is still troubled with injuries sustained.
Inasmuch as the plaintiff speaks but very little English Prof. Jairo of this city was pressed into service to act as

CASE CONTINUED

Man Charged With Illegal Trans- portation of Liquor

The continued case of William F.
Hennessey, charged with the illegal transportation of liquor into Billerica, was called and the defendant appeared in court ready for trial. Owing to the fact that the attorney for the prosecution, John J. Harvey, was detained at superior court, the case was again

There were eleven persons released who were placed under arrest either Saturday or Sunday for first offense of drunkenness.

The following were fined $2 each for drunkenness: Edward Cote, Harriet Sullivan, Herman York and Annie Malone.

The drunks who were each assessed 15 were: Michael Hogan, Eugene Gaudet, Joseph Dion, George Stevenson and Nelson Bashaw.

Reformatory Sentence

Edward J. Allen and Edward Brady, each charged with drunkenness and both having previous court records, were sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory. Both appealed.

On Probation

Luther J. Flynn had his sentence of four months in jail for drunkenness suspended for one year and he was placed in the custody of the probation officer as was Mary E. Roper for the same offense.

Henry O. Keyes, charged with assault and battery, by request of his counsel, Edward Fisher, had his case

Runaway Girls

Two runaway girls were brought into the police station yesterday.
They gave the names of Loretta

Franklin and Louise Dupuis and were about 16 years of age. They said they ran away from their homes in New Bedford to see something of the world. They were sent back to the Whale City.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Leahy of 811 Central street have returned after spending a few days with Mrs. Lea Honey of Eggleston square, Boston, Mass.

The engagement of Mr. Frank R.
Brown and Miss M. Elizabeth Sullivan of Newton Highlands is announced. The wedding to take place October 28.

BOWLING LEAGUE

A meeting of the Catholic Bowling League was held yesterday and was well attended. It was decided to open the tournament on Monday, October 19 and to have all of the contests bowled on the Crescent alleys. The schedule committee will meet on Sunday next and will draw up a schedule of the games to be played, with the assignment of clubs, and the date of the contest. The outlook is considered the brightest in the history of the Catholic bowling league.

THE POLICE BOARD

Held a Special Meeting This Forenoon

A special meeting of the police board was held this forenoon at 10 o'clock, when a license was granted to Charles Bunker for the holding of a wrestling match in Associate hall tomorrow evening. Tomorrow night there will be a regular meeting of the police board at which it is expected that a decision will be given in the cases in which Patrolman Hersey and Donovan
were given.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

ON NEW HAVEN ROAD CAUSED BY THE BROCKTON FAIR

Yesterday was the first Sunday in many months that the "shifter" on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was running and the entire crew worked.

The reason for working yesterday was on account of the heavy traffic caused by the Brockton fair.

So great was the number of cars in the yard that it was found necessary to send out an extra freight, which carried a very large train to the towns down the line.

DENIS A. O'BRIEN

PRESENTED BOUQUET OF AMER- ICAN BEAUTY ROSES

Mr. Denis A. O'Brien, of this city, who sailed for Rome Saturday where he intends to study for the priesthood, was very kindly remembered by the members of the board of government of the Catholic Total Abstinence union just before the boat sailed. He was presented a handsome bouquet of American Beauty roses as a slight token of the esteem in which he is held by the board of government. The following members of the board saw Mr.
O'Brien off: Acting President J. E.
Shea, Vice-President Mrs. C. Tilton;
Secretary Stephen T. Ward.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The monthly collection for the church debt fund was taken up at all of the masses at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday and quite a large sum was realized.

At both masses in St. John's church,
North Chelmsford, Sunday morning, the annual coal collection was taken up.

A largely attended meeting of the Holy Name society was held in St.
John's church, North Chelmsford, last evening at 6 o'clock and the members were making arrangements about taking part in the big Holy Name parade to be held in Boston in a few weeks.

Commencing this week, the clergymen of the parish are to take the census of the parishioners.

Rev. Fr. Rojan, has returned from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he spent several weeks.

The Holy Name society of the parish is actively engaged on the preparations for its centenary parade on November 1. The society has been divided into companies of 24 men, and captains have been selected.

LOWELL TUB

Arrived From Brockton Yesterday After the Muster

The "City of Lowell" hand-tub arrived in town on the New York, New Haven and Hartford road yesterday, after participating in the Brockton muster, and was unloaded from the train at the Maple street stand today.

A. O. H. IS AROUSED

By Certain Liquor Advertisement and Moving Pictures

That are Regarded as Reflecting on the Race-Action Taken Towards Putting a Stop to Such Exhibitions

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Central council of the
A. O. H. was held yesterday in Hiber-nian hall, President Joseph Fahey in the chair.

Arrangements were made for the biennial meeting of the delegates to the county convention which is to be held in Hibernian hall on Sunday, October 11.

The advertisement of a local liquor dealer which appeared in a local paper one day last week, which the members thought was a reflection on the Irish character, was discussed at some length and it was decided to have the known as Hibernian night.

secretary of the council confer with the dealer relative to the discontinuance of this particular advertisement.

It was also stated that one of the local moving picture houses had been running a series of moving pictures which the council considered very offensive and the secretary was instructed to notify the management that such offensive pictures should be eliminated.

The Hibernians throughout the state have been invited by Archbishop O'Connell to take part in the opening of the charity bazaar which opens on Nov. 11th. The first night is to be known as Hibernian night.

NINE LIVES LOST

In a Fire in New York Early This Morning

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Nine persons lost their lives in a fire that occurred early this morning in a four story double tenement in lower Manhattan street.

The dead:
Domitiek, Purcell, his wife and three children, five, three and two years old.
Francesco Palostino, who boarded with the Purcell family.

Mrs. Scallino and her seven year old daughter.

The building was occupied by eight Italian families and there were fifty persons asleep in the building when the fire was discovered. The fire started in a dry goods store that occupied the ground floor of the building. It spread with great rapidity and soon the whole inside of the building was a mass of flames. Many of the persons who escaped by the stairway were more or less burned, some of severely.

It is now believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Three barrels stuffed with rubbish and soaked with oil were blazing in the lower hall when the firemen arrived, cutting off the escape of the fifty or more persons who were sleeping on the upper floors. Some of these died in their beds where they were overcome by smoke and then caught by the flames. Others who had been aroused too late fell un-rescued in this manner.

There were many narrow escapes from death from the fire and a number of children were saved by being tossed from the windows into the arms of spectators in the street. At least six children were rescued in this manner.

And Rev. Mr. McGee of Ireland May Visit Lowell

They Are to Address Meetings in Leading Cities of This State in the Next Two Weeks

The executive committee of the United Irish league met last night and considered a communication from the national secretary, Mr. O'Callaghan of Boston, relative to having Hon. Joseph Devlin, M. P., and Rev. Mr. McGee, a Presbyterian minister from Ireland, come to Lowell. These two gentlemen will have a couple of weeks to remain in Boston and the national officers have expressed the desire to have them speak in a few of the leading cities of this state. It was decided to call a special meeting of the local branch for Thursday evening to consider the matter.

It was Mr. Devlin who addressed the meeting from which the local branch was organized six years ago. He has many admirers in Lowell who would be glad to hear him.

Rev. Mr. McGee has been a member of parliament and is an ardent home ruler. He addressed the national convention in Boston and won great applause for his forcible statement of the situation and his strong sympathy with the national aims of the Irish people.

The meeting Thursday will be held in A. O. H. hall and all the members are requested to attend. The record of achievement by the Irish party during the past four years has been wonderful and there is nothing now to stop its progress towards complete home rule. The fact that the Imperial Unionist association is to introduce a home rule measure modeled on the lines of the Irish council's bill rejected by Ireland last year, indicates what progress has been made.

The lords have obviously come to the conclusion that home rule of some kind is inevitable and they are getting ready a makeshift measure of their own that they would have rejected last year; but their bill will not go. The commons will have none of it. The lords must yield and inasmuch as they passed the Irish university bill there is little reason to doubt that they are fast coming to the point at which they will have to concur in the passage of a real and comprehensive home rule measure.

The strong support rendered by the Irish people of this country will strengthen the hands of the Irish party and enable them to make the movement a more potent force in shaping the political destinies of the empire.

other shops. The death rate from consumption among non-union men is 100 per cent. greater than among union men, he said.

Statistics were presented by Frederick L. Hoffman, showing that the death rate from consumption among wage-earners in this country is 77,000 out of 22,000,000.

Dr. Freund spoke of the compulsory

As Result of the Low Water in St. Albans, Vt.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 5.—About 500 persons were thrown out of work in this city today as a direct result of the lowering of the city's water supply following the almost unprecedented drought. The city water comes from Fairfax pond and is stored in two reservoirs. The upper reservoir has been dry for some time and in the lower one the water has been going down steadily until today it measured only 11 feet, 9 inches. To guard against a shortage which would be serious in case of fire the city council decided to cut off from the water supply some of the largest consumers and today the water was taken away from the Central Vermont railway headquarters including the large shops, the Van Camp Condensed Milk Co. and the Green Mountain Canning Co. Between 300 and 400 men have been employed at the Central Vermont shops which were closed today for an indefinite time. The Van Camp company, which employs 50 hands, will close its plant tonight and it will not reopen until an artesian well, which is being dug, can be placed in operation or until the city water supply is restored. Only 25 persons have been working at the Green mountain factory but 50 were to be taken on in the near future to can apples. The factory is closed today and it is not known when it will resume work. Heavy showers in the middle of last week maintained the level of the lower reservoir for a time but the water soon resumed its decline.

LABOR LEADERS

Talk on the Ravages of the White Plague

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Dr. Lawrence Flick of Philadelphia delivered an encouraging address yesterday at the National Museum, where the tuberculosis exposition is being held in connection with the International Congress of Tuberculosis, which adjourned Saturday. Yesterday's meeting was in the interest of labor and was one of a series to be given this week.

The speakers were Dr. Flick, John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; Frederick L. Hoffman, an insurance statistician, and Joseph Freund, president of the Workmen's insurance office, Berlin.

Dr. Flick emphasized the part society should play in the great work of stamping out tuberculosis. Calling attention to the fact that what is wanted is the spread of knowledge we now have on this subject and an application of that knowledge, he said, the rest is easy.

John Mitchell, who presided, enumerated some of the obstacles to greater progress in the promotion of health and the eradication of disease and said that they were due to the attitude of many employers, who resist the enactment of laws for the prevention of accidents and the promotion of health, and who comply with such laws with the greatest reluctance. Of equal importance, Mr. Mitchell declared, are housing conditions in large cities. He said in part:

"To the men of learning and science who have gathered in this capital city from all quarters of the globe the working people of America turn with expectancy and confidence. In common with all other factors in society we are alive to the importance of those already afflicted, but we are even more concerned in regard to measures which will prevent infection and stop forever the spread of this disease."

"Immunity from infection and relief from those things which predispose working men and women to consumption must be brought to us in the places in which we live and work. It is, of course, a source of gratification to know that those more favored by fortune who are victims of this disease may find relief in other climes; but the men and women of toil are compelled by circumstances beyond their control to remain not only in the community where they contracted the disease, but often are obliged to continue in their employment until they succumb to its ravages."

"It would be unjust to say that employers or landlords should be blamed for all the evils which affect and threaten the lives of the working people. The danger may be minimized by the application of simple and natural rules of life and conduct, and to the extent that education and agitation may offer relief, it is the duty of the working people to take advantage of the practical suggestions which are made for their guidance, and to follow the advice given for their benefit."

President Gompers declared that union workmen are less susceptible to tuberculosis infection than non-union men, because the union shops are superior in sanitary appliances to

He was also one of those who accompanied the president on his trip down the Mississippi in connection with the movement for deep waterways.

THE GILBRIDE COMPANY

Has a Fine Display in a Variety of Lines

While the Gilbride company is not making any pretense of having a formal fall and winter opening like many of the other establishments, yet their windows were trimmed in a very artistic manner, and the costumes on exhibition could not be surpassed. The interior of the store had every appearance of a busy bee hive, and the display of ladies' wear was all that could be desired, and the prices were remarkably reasonable. The cloak and suit department, which is on the second floor, was very largely patronized by the ladies who were out inspecting the other stores and ended by making their purchases here.

The domestic department in the basement was loaded with blankets, comforters, and everything necessary for house furnishings.

This is certainly one of the leading dry goods establishments of Lowell and the high standard of their goods will maintain the reputation they already enjoy of being the most up-to-date store in the city.

MILLINERY OPENING

Hard & Garland, at the corner of John and Merrimack streets, held their fall and winter opening Friday and Saturday. This is their second season at this store, and it certainly looked like prosperity there. Their millinery parlors are very centrally located, and their reputation as milliners has brought them to the front in a manner that might be considered envious. Their display this year was even grander than last season, and judging from the patronage they received they must be highly pleased with the attendance and patronage of former customers and the public. When you want the correct thing in millinery you should call at Hard & Garland's.

LOOKS LIKE WAR

Trouble in the Far East Seems Almost Certain

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Events which threaten to change the political face of Europe are crystallizing with lightning rapidity. Almost overnight the horizon of the near east, which seemed gradually to be assuming a peaceful appearance, has become crowded with war clouds.

News reaches here from several sources that two definite strikes are impending which cannot fail to bring matters to a crisis and perhaps force an immediate war. One is the proclamation by Prince Ferdinand of the independence of Bulgaria, which will include Roumania, taking for himself the title of "Czar."

The other is an announcement by Austria-Hungary of the practical annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina as appendages of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Either action will be equivalent to the tearing up of the treaty of Berlin, while Prince Ferdinand's course seems almost certain to precipitate war between Bulgaria and Turkey. Before these possibilities the quarrel over the East Rumanian section of the Orient railway sinks into insignificance. Both armies are reported to be quietly and swiftly mobilizing near the borders. Bulgaria is said to be buying up munitions and horses on an extensive scale.

The Bulgarians have faith in their army which has reached a high state of efficiency, although it is perhaps lacking in officers, and the war, which Bulgaria has long been expecting, to hear of could be fought with more advantage for her now than when the new Turkish government has had time to reorganize its forces, which have become enervated by the corruption and neglect of the old regime.

The emperor of Austria, it is understood, has dispatched a letter to the president of France, setting forth his intentions regarding Bosnia and Herzegovina, although the contents of the letter are kept secret and he is sending similar notes to the other powers.

It seems incredible that Emperor Francis Joseph, who always has been a scrupulous observer of forms, should reveal his plans to the rulers of other nations before he has communicated them to his own parliament. One explanation is that the letter was not intended for delivery until Tuesday, when identical notes would be presented to the other powers.

While Austria's action with regard to the two provinces may not technically be called annexation, it is believed it will amount to that, whatever it may be called. Apparently the emperor is determined that the destiny of these provinces shall be Austrian, not Turkish. For thirty years they have been administered by Austria, but they have always remained, not only Turkish territory and Austria pledged that their administration should not derogate Turkish rights.

English public opinion is with Turkey in the Bulgarian dispute, as all the powers except Austria seem to be, and it remains to be seen what the English attitude will be toward annexation if that becomes a fact.

Austria is suspected of encouraging the recent Bulgarian-Turkish trouble for her own interests, but the British government has made no proposals to any two countries looking to the settlement of the railway case, and the other powers have agreed to give support to the plan, which contemplates the temporary restoration of the railway to Turkey "to save her face," and then transfer it to the company to the Bulgarian government.

The English press expresses surprise that Austria and Bulgaria should plot against Turkey and asks if the great powers will submit to having obstacles placed in the way of the regeneration of Turkey.

GREAT EXCITEMENT
BELGRADE, Serbia, Oct. 5.—Our reports received here that Austria proposes to annex the Provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina has caused the greatest excitement. The Serbian press denounces Austria's action as warlike.

TO PROCLAIM INDEPENDENCE
PARIS, Oct. 5.—The French government is absorbed in the Balkan crisis. Official advice, which have been received from the head of the mission at Tergovna today Prince Ferdinand, at the signing of the independence of Bulgaria and will assume the title of "Czar of the Bulgars."

Rumors will be included in the proclamation, says the Temps, that probably Turkey will acquiesce and a Turkish-Bulgarian war is therefore likely. The only thing to interfere with this program is Prince Ferdinand's possible hesitation at the last minute, but this morning his resolution appeared definite.

Dreaded Insanity Due to Kidney Disorders

Symptoms and Home Treatment

Gaut, the celebrated German specialist, asserts that seven-tenths of the feeble-minded and insane are the victims of kidney diseases. Nervousness, excitability, restlessness, melancholia, pains in the back and head, neuralgia and rheumatic pains, fevers, chills, scanty urine, highly colored and acid urine, burning pains, fullness and soreness in the region of the bladder, all indicate that the kidneys are affected and weakened, needing tonic treatment.

The very best physician should be consulted at once, unless the patient fully recognizes the symptoms, in which case let the following simple, inexpensive, but reliable prescription be used for several weeks.

Ask any honest druggist to mix one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, with one ounce compound fluid Balmwort and two ounces compound syrup Sarsaparilla. Then take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at retiring, drinking plenty of good pure water between meals. This mixture makes a splendid tonic and blood purifier.

The Temps adds that Austria is ready to compensate Turkey for the definite seizure of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

TO ANNEX PROVINCES

VIENNA, Oct. 5.—The annexation of the Provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria, it is believed, will not be long delayed. The foreign office, however, refuses to admit that such a step is contemplated and declares that the government is planning some changes regarding the international position of these provinces, which though forming an appendix of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, are nonnally included in the Turkish empire. The opinion is held in political circles that these measures will be equivalent to annexation. Some of the foreign governments are reported to regard this step unfavorably, particularly Italy; nevertheless this attitude seems to have had no deterrent effect upon this government.

REV. C. E. FISHER

Preached on Need of "Man of the Hour"

At the First Universalist church, Sunday evening, the pastor, Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, preached on "The Need of the Man of the Hour in the Political Conditions of Today." Mr. Fisher found his inspiration in the play that held the boards at the Opera House last week. He said in part:

"The history of the Christian faith is filled with joys at the triumphs made by its followers. Every phase of life has been touched in the 2000 years of Christianity. Much has been softened which was hard and cruel. The ideal city, of course, must carry out to the fullest just the teachings of Jesus Christ. We have had idealists, and speculators and men of facts in control of our cities at various times, and all have made more or less of failures. I mean that not one has ever made a complete success."

"In Lowell and in other cities it sometimes seems that we are a long ways from the results which obtained in Samaria, that city of joy. There are nowadays many complaints made about the management of city affairs. There is much talk made of the so-called classes and of laws for the rich and laws for the poor. These two elements will come together sometime."

"All of this protest and complaint indicates that Christ's spirit has not always entered the hearts of men in power. In order to approach the ideal government of the city we must get over the hair-splitting, and all faiths must work shoulder to shoulder for the common good. What is government? It is that power which rules the community. It is the power that should be. But the power lies in you, in me. The question is often asked, 'Do the people rule?' And the answer is, 'Why, of course they do if they really want to.' We are at fault if grievous mistakes are made in our city halls, because we don't assert ourselves when we have ballots. It isn't always the fault of the ruler every where. It's the fault of the man with the ballots that the ruler was ever made a ruler."

"Do we need a man of the hour in our city? You have many of you, you see the play of that name and you know whom I mean, the mayor. Of course, that was only a play, pure idealism, but there is no reason why it should not apply to our political life. Doesn't it grip you when you see it? Why do you feel the truth given there? Why do you feel them, and why are you gripped? Just because you are in sympathy with something which you haven't got."

He then spoke of men in the public eye at the present time, who, to his mind, filled all of the qualifications of "men of the hour." Head and shoulders above any other man in our political life, he declared, stood Charles Hughes of New York. Another man fit to be classed with the great men of the day was Gov. Joseph Folger of Missouri.

There was special music at the service. Solos were given by Miss Nana M. Gallagher, contralto; Harry Needham, basso; and Hans von Gruben Borjes, violinist.

FOR 15 YEARS

WOMAN HAD POSED AS A MAN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—In the steerage of the New York, which arrived from Southampton on Saturday, was a slight, middle-aged passenger with a rather delicate face, made masculine by a black moustache, known as Frank Woodhull. He said he was born in Canada and was bound for New Orleans. He had ample money to pay his way.

The boarding inspector ordered Woodhull detained, and he was taken to Ellis island yesterday morning. To the registry clerk Woodhull said he was 50 years of age and in perfect health. The clerk doubted the last declaration, so he was ordered to go before the doctor for a thorough examination.

Woodhull, blushing, threw up his hands and cried forlornly: "I'm a woman!"

"At my age," she said, "there is nothing that I can do in woman's clothes. Employers want young and good looking girls or women nowadays. By adopting man's attire I have been able to live a respectable and independent life, asking favors of nobody. For 15 years nobody has ever suspected that I was not a man."

MGR. FARLEY MAY BE MADE CARDINAL BY THE POPE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Extensive preparations are being made by Catholics in New York to give a royal welcome to Archbishop John M. Farley of the archdiocese of New York when he returns on Oct. 9 from Rome, where he attended the pope's jubilee. Added interest centers in the return of the archbishop because it is believed that another American cardinal is to be appointed in the near future and that Mgr. Farley will be the man. Cables from Rome say that when the archbishop was taking his leave of the pope and promised to leave at some future time his holiness remarked jokingly, but significantly, "If you do not come, I'll soon call you back myself."

RALLY ON COMMON REV. FR. DUBREUIL

Addressed by Franklin Wentworth of Salem Received Tokens of the People's Devotion

Franklin Wentworth of Salem, Socialist candidate for congress, talked on and to the South common yesterday afternoon. When it comes to talking Wentworth can make quite a "speech" and little respect has he for the republicans or democrats. He says they are two distinct crowds of nincompoops and that they don't even know why they vote. Nearly 1000 persons listened to Socialist Wentworth spout yesterday afternoon and there is no doubt at all that he is a good talker.

THAW FLOTY TO TAKE UP RESIDENCE IN THIS STATE.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 5.—Lenox, Mass., is to be the future home of the Thaws. It was announced here yesterday that Mrs. Copley Thaw, as Alice Thaw, recently divorced from the earl of Yarborough, desires now to be known, has decided to take up her residence in Lenox with his sister and mother. Mrs. William Thaw will live there with her, the two leaving Pittsburg and London.

There has been no announcement regarding Harry Thaw in case he should be liberated by the New York courts, as the Thaw family now hopes. It is thought, however, that in this case Harry would take up his residence at Lenox with his sister and mother. Both Alice and the mother are said to have practically impoverished themselves in the trying of the law. Negotiations for a home in Lenox have about been completed and the women will settle there about November 1.

WOMAN KILLED

She Jumped From Window of Infirmary

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 5.—Miss Mary Hyslop, a native of Scotland, 25 years old, jumped from the fifth story of the eye and ear infirmary yesterday afternoon during a temporary absence of her attendant, and was killed. She was suffering from complete nervous prostration. She was well known, especially in Scottish circles, and was universally esteemed. She had not been in good health for some time, and Saturday was taken to the infirmary for special treatment for her nerves. Overwork led to a complete breakdown of her constitution.

NAT BRIGHAM TO LECTURE

It has been definitely settled that Nat M. Brigham will include Lowell in his national course of illustrated lectures, opening here in Colonial hall on October 26 and coming on the 27th. Brigham has had a notable career. During the years when he lived in Lowell and sang in the Unitarian choir, he was counted one of the best tenors in the state, and he had been upon the Harvard glee club. Brigham was a student of the history of the west. He has been lecturing up and down the middle west and has won a notable success there. Now he comes back to Lowell, where he has many old friends.

BISHOP TIERNEY

Lies at the Point of Death

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 5.—Bishop Michael Tierney of the Catholic diocese of Hartford lies at the point of death, having suffered a stroke of apoplexy during Saturday night.

After a consultation of physicians the statement was authorized that the bishop was very low and his surviving the night was scarcely looked for. At his bedside much of the day was Bishop D. Beaven of the diocese of Springfield, a life-long friend.

The last sacrament was administered to the bishop by the Rev. Thomas S. Duggan, rector of St. Joseph's Cathedral, and the vicar-general of the diocese, the Rt. Rev. John Synnot.

Bishop Tierney appeared to be in his usual health Saturday and followed his customary routine of diocesan work, and yesterday was to have officiated at the dedication of a church at Middlebury. During the evening the bishop was about his household duties, when, as if premonition had come to him, he spoke to those about him that he was not feeling just right. The priests present assisted him to his room and Dr. T. F. Kane was called, it being thought that Bishop Tierney was suffering from indigestion. Later in the evening it was noticed that the bishop's speech was affected and that he seemed to be a little bewildered. Dr. Kane, who is the bishop's personal physician, examined the patient and said there were evidences of a cerebral hemorrhage. Doctors Dowling, George Bailey and Arthur J. Wolf were called into consultation and it was their verdict that the bishop had been seized with apoplexy and that the attack was a very severe one.

It was then early in the morning and the priests of the bishop's household were summoned, and word was conveyed to Bishop Beaven of the illness of the venerable ecclesiastic. Bishop Beaven immediately responded and arrived here at 3 o'clock and stayed near the patient throughout the day.

Father Duggan and Vicar General Synnot, who were at the bedside, administered the rites of the church. During the day the immediate relatives of Bishop Tierney were summoned to the parochial residence.

Word of the serious condition of the bishop was conveyed to the priests of the diocese during the morning and prayers for his restoration to health were offered in the churches at the several masses.

During the day the bishop's condition noticeably changed for the worse.

Right Rev. Michael Tierney has done a wonderful work in building up the Catholic diocese of Connecticut during his more than thirteen years of occupancy of the bishopric. Not only has he built churches but has been identified with the founding and up-building of many hospitals, educational institutions and other educational departments. The great influx of foreigners to the manufacturing centers presented church problems which he was called upon to solve.

Bishop Tierney was born in the County Tipperary, Ireland, September 23, 1829.

At the age of 8 years his parents came to New York state, and the last, after his first school training, went to St. Thomas academy, Bardonia, N. Y., for his classical education. He completed his theological studies at St. Joseph's seminary, Troy, N. Y., and here he was ordained by Bishop Conroy on May 28, 1856. The young priest was sent to Providence, R. I., where he became rector of the cathedral and chancellor of the diocese. While there he erected the Christian Brothers' school. His first transfer was to St. Mary's church, New London, and later in succession extending through several years he went to St. Patrick's church, Norwich, St. John's church, Stamford, where he remained three years, then to Hartford, where he built St. Peter's convent and an addition to St. Peter's parochial school and then, after six years, to St. Mary at New Britain in 1885. During his pastorate here he became actively identified with the temperance movement.

On January 8, 1894, Father Tierney

MASONS MEET

Great Gathering Was Opened in Boston Yesterday

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—One of the most notable Masonic gatherings ever held in Boston yesterday opened in Tremont Temple the three days' observances which are to commemorate the 15th anniversary of the founding of St. John's lodge, A. F. and A. M. of this city, the oldest lodge of Masons in the country.

In addition to being the oldest, St. John's lodge is one of the most famous in the United States and has a longer roll of conspicuous men on its membership books than any other. Nearly 4000 Masons crowded Tremont Temple late yesterday for the opening day's exercises. In the gathering were grand masters, representing the thirteen original states and Maine, the only New England state not of the original "13."

WHISTLER STATUE

THE COMMITTEE HAS MORE TIME TO RAISE MONEY.

The committee of artists having the subject of the Rodin memorial in charge have reached no decision as yet. A letter received Sunday from Mr. Joseph Pennell of the international committee expressed satisfaction that Lowell had on so short notice been able to guarantee so substantial an amount and added that the present disposition of the committee was to allow a slightly longer time for the full subscription desired.

It is probable that a conference will be had this week in New York be-

DEMOCRACY BETRAYED

Lawrence Paper Scores Men Who Voted for Butler Ames

The Lawrence Eagle of Saturday had the following editorial:

No more disgraceful proceeding in the history of the democracy of the Fifth Congressional district was ever recorded than the betrayal of the party by its accredited delegates at the convention at Lowell yesterday. Throwing their allegiance to the winds 26 delegates, registered as democrats and elected as democratic representatives, turned traitors and voted to endorse a republican for the high and honorable office of representative in congress. The betrayal is all the more pronounced because this is a presidential election year, when party lines are tightly drawn and the district democracy should have a congressional candidate willing to make a contest for the seat and to hold swell the vote for the presidential electors named by the democrats. But these democrats, under the leadership practically of William F. King, a former democratic alderman in the city of Lowell, at one time a holder of a license through favor of democratic license commissioners, at present chairman of the democratic city committee and an employee of the democratic water board, without regard for the party went over to the enemy, body and soul. Why did they do it?

Can it be that it was because they thought that in this district wherein the democrats have no chance of success could not find one democratic who would go forth and give battle to the republican nominee? Was it because they were convinced that there is not a republican in the district who is able to truly represent it in congress? Or did these men betray their party, which honored them and trusted them because they were subservient to those methods which the bold politician does not hesitate to employ in order to obtain his object?

It is pertinent to ask if these renegades were influenced by their own convictions or by other considerations. Why did they do it? They say that they were under a debt of gratitude to Butler Ames, but the voters will be apt to accept that statement with a grain of salt and form their own conclusions. It is a safe assertion that every one of those delegates who voted for Ames signed his own political death warrant the minute he deserted his party. Some of the delegates claim that they were unpledged and that they had a right to vote for anyone, but in view of the fact that they were elected as delegates to a democratic convention, it is logical to say that they should have cast their votes for some democrat. It is not natural that the democrats should be sold with indignation over the manner in which they were misrepresented by their delegates yesterday.

One ray of hope still remains, and that is, the convention proceedings were illegal, and that the endorsement of Ames is null and void. The claim is made that the convention call was never legally issued and that when the convention was held the call was not read to the delegates as required by law. This may result in a legal convention being called and when it is held, the votes in it will be cast by men who will not sell out their party for friendship, gratitude or any other consideration.

Items Gathered From Mill Centers

FITCHBURG, Mass., Oct. 5.—The Shireffs Worsteds Co's new weave shed at South Fitchburg has been in partial use for the past five or six weeks and will be complete just as soon as 24 more looms arrive and can be set up. This addition to the plant completes the general scheme which John Shireffs had in mind when the first set of buildings were erected, four years ago. Then the making of fine worsteds was all in one building. The rapidly increasing business caused a gradual increase in machinery of one kind and another until the point was reached last fall and winter where the mill was constantly run overtime, and at that the company had to have some of its work done outside.

MAY SELL PECK INTERESTS

FITCHBURG, Mass., Oct. 5.—Thomas D. Peck, who has been president of the J. L. & T. D. Peck woolen mills for 27 years, since the death of his father, admits, it is reported, that negotiations are in progress for the sale of his interests in the concern involving about $100,000 to Ralph T. Gillespie of Westfield. The outcome of the deal will be definitely known some time this week. Mr. Peck does not intend to retire from his other business interests in the event of the transfer of his stock in the mills.

AMERICAN FLEET FRANCK T. EVANS

Has Safely Outridden a Hurricane

MANILA, Oct. 5.—The American battleship fleet has safely outridden a hurricane which swept Manila bay for 12 hours and did much damage ashore. Typhoon signals were displayed early Sunday morning, but the storm broke over the bay suddenly at noon. It was impossible to hoist the cutters and launches belonging to the fleet because of the danger of their smashing against the steel sides of the battleships and the little crafts were sent scurrying inside the breakwater into the Pasig river, where they remained all night. The storm quickly increased in intensity and torrential rains shut in the ships.

At 8 o'clock Sunday night the storm had reached its height and it then gradually tapered down until midnight. It was comparatively calm, although heavy seas ran across the harbor. During the storm all the battleships had steam up ready for any emergency. Rear Admiral Sperry finally ordered the flagship Connecticut, and the Kansas, Minnesota, Vermont, Virginia and Ohio under way. They were close to the breakwater and the admiral feared they might drag anchor. The six vessels steamed down close to Cavite, where they anchored.

At times the wind blew at the rate of 100 miles an hour. All communication with the shore was cut off. It was impossible during the height of the storm to see the warships through the haze of rain and spray. On shore it was dangerous to go about. Several carriages were overturned by the wind, trees were blown down, electric wires were torn away and several buildings were unroofed. Among the buildings unroofed was the depot of the commissary. Several naval officers ashore on various errands were compelled to remain ashore all night.

FINE PAINTINGS

OWNED IN LOWELL EXHIBITED IN BOSTON

The crowning glory of the magnificent decorations of grand hall of the Mechanics building, where the great annual food fair of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association will be held for four weeks beginning today, will be the superb 100,000 paintings by the famous French artist, Paul Philippoteaux illustrating the whole career of Ulysses S. Grant. The paintings are the property of Orin R. Griffin, 550 School street, this city.

There are fifteen of these immense canvases and wherever they have been exhibited they have aroused the greatest interest among the veterans, not only of the Civil war but of the recent conflict with Spain, and among all students of history and of art. They are all in the best style of philippoteaux who will be well remembered in Boston for his celebrated cyclorama painting of the Battle of Gettysburg, declared by many to be the greatest work of his life.

One of the most celebrated paintings of the Grant series is of the Battle of Belmont, Missouri, which shows the attack about eight o'clock in the morning of the evening of November, 1861. This battle was long and severe and did not end until sunset. The losses on both sides bear evidence of the character of the fighting.

Another celebrated painting shows "The Capture of Fort Donelson." The "Battle of Shiloh," represents General Grant rallying the men of the northern army who had been forced to the river banks by the confederate troops under General Beauregard, to a renewed attack on the enemy. For ten hours the battle raged here with varying fortune on both sides. The confederates lost over 15,000 men in the engagement and retreat.

The occupation of Vicksburg by the confederate troops under command of General Pemberton was the immediate result of the fall of New Orleans. The picture shows the meeting between Generals Grant and Pemberton, and the terms of the surrender and shows the conference on a hillside within a few hundred feet of the double lines near an oak tree which was made historical by the event.

"The Battle of Corinth" is one of the most imposing of this group of pictures. It was a most sanguinary engagement of several days resulting in a decisive and glorious victory to the union army. General Sherman in his memoirs says: "The effect of the Battle of Corinth was great. It was indeed a decisive blow to the confederates in the west and changed the whole aspect of affairs in West Tennessee. From the timid defensive we were at once able to assume the bold offensive."

Lee's surrender to Grant April 9th, 1865, is most effectively pictured in what probably is the most interesting picture of the whole collection. It shows the meeting of the two generals with their staff officers which was held in a room in a private house of Wilmer McLean, a citizen of Appomattox Court House, Va. This painting is historically correct as regards the officers present and the furniture in the room, many pieces of which were brought away by officers of the northern army as souvenirs.

Then there are continental scenes, scene at North Cape, scene on way to Naples and various other scenes having to do with the life of Grant.

Well Known Financier Kicked by Horse

EGYPT, Oct. 5.—Thomas W. Lawson, the well known financier, was thrown from his carriage while driving near North Scituate late yesterday, and seriously injured by the fall and by being kicked by the horse he had been driving.

Mr. Lawson was picked up unconscious and taken into a nearby drug store and attended by a local physician. Later he was removed to his home, Dreamworld, in this town, in an automobile. He did not recover consciousness until late last night.

A passing automobile frightened the horse and he shied, throwing out Mr. Lawson and his daughter. Miss Lawson escaped injury.

AT CAMP MYSTERY

Outing Held at Belle Grove Yesterday

The first outing of the Mysteries of Centerville was held Saturday afternoon at "Camp Mystery" at Belle grove. The greater part of the afternoon was devoted to a long list of sports and ended with a team race between the Mysteries and the Yanklans which was captured by the Mysteries.

A ball game was played, but was called on account of darkness. Both teams claim to have won the contest, but somebody stole the score book and the official score will never go down on record.

At the conclusion of the game dinner was served at the club house, followed by an informal program of entertainment consisting of numbers by John McCabe, R. Foy, J. E. Byrnes, D. Brienne, J. Cuddey, L. Nonette, M. O'Brien, W. McPherson, G. Lacey, J. McNamara, J. Leaver, W. Lynch, T. Keane, P. Devine, W. Kilbride and others.

Among the speakers were the following: M. Connerion, J. Kelley, C. Nugent, J. Riley and E. McAlister. At the conclusion of the program dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. The committee largely responsible for the success of the affair was: J. Kelly, M. Connerion and W. Kilbride.

Forty-Seven Horses Were Burned to Death

CRANSTON, R. I., Oct. 5.—Forty-seven horses were burned in a fire that destroyed the large barn owned by the J. A. Budlong and Son company in Auburn last night. The loss is estimated at $30,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

STRIKE ENDED

Trouble on Canadian Pacific is Settled

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—The announcement was made here yesterday by Robert Rogers, minister of public works in the Manitoba government, that he, acting in conjunction with Colin Campbell, attorney-general of the Manitoba government at Winnipeg, had arranged a settlement of the strike of Canadian Pacific shop workers. Officials of the railroad refuse to discuss the matter.

At the local headquarters of the men it was admitted that terms as stated by Mr. Rogers were substantially correct, but that the strike had not been called off, pending confirmation from Winnipeg of the acceptance by the men there of the proposed terms. It is generally believed here, however, that the terms will be eventually accepted and that the men will return to work.

That the men do not regard the settlement as a victory was manifested at their headquarters.

MR. TAFT'S BLUNDERS ON THE STUMP.

The outlook for Mr. Bryan's election is still good. Mr. Taft on the stump is making bad breaks. He shows a woful lack of accuracy of statement, something that seems very remarkable in a man who has occupied a seat on the bench.

If there is any training that should ensure accuracy of statement it is that of the bench. Yet Mr. Taft in discussing the tariff at Alexandria, Minn., made the following statement:—

The Gorman-Wilson tariff bill that laid everything low, that sent down prices of wheat below 50 cents, and that sent corn down to 21 cents; that sent oats down to 18 cents, and potatoes to 27 cents. Where are they now?—Taft at Alexandria, Minn.

The "statistical abstract of the United States" shows the prices of the commodities mentioned by Mr. Taft from 1894 to 1897, both inclusive, to have been as follows:—

	Wheat Cents	Corn Cents	Oats Cents
1894 .....	61	50.9	37.2
1895 .....	67	47.7	28.8
1896 .....	78	34.0	23.3
1897 .....	95	31.9	23.2

Such erroneous statements do not reflect credit upon Mr. Taft's judicial acumen. But that he is radically wrong in his general contention is shown from another source.

According to the government summary of commerce and finance from December, 1906, to May, 1907, with the Dingley tariff in full force, wheat sold for from 78½ to 84 cents, ten to fifteen cents less than the price quoted in the last year of the Wilson tariff, not because of the tariff but because of an abnormal crop.

Mr. Taft thus falls into the error of attributing to the Wilson tariff conditions that never existed; but the figures quoted above show that the price of wheat is not ruled by the tariff but by the law of supply and demand.

THE STATE TICKET.

Hon. James H. Vahey, whom the democratic party has nominated for governor, is a young man who has made a reputation in the legislature as representative and senator. His personal popularity is such that in his home district in Watertown he overcame a large republican majority and won his place in the senate. He is an able debater and well versed on state and national issues. He will bother Mr. Draper very considerably on labor and other matters on which the republican candidate is particularly vulnerable.

Should he be elected he would give the state an up-to-date and progressive administration. The rest of the ticket is very good, and it is gratifying to know that the whole ticket has behind it a thoroughly united party.

THE ENDORSEMENT OF AMES.

Can any of the recreant democrats who voted to give Hon. Butler Ames the nomination for congress say for a certainty that President Roosevelt, William A. Hearst or somebody else may not publish a letter before election day that will put the Lowell congressman down and out like Senator Foraker, and Foraker is as dead as the proverbial door nail.

The democratic endorsement of Ames would save him the expense of a campaign, a matter usually of some $10,000. This, together with the prestige of getting the endorsement of an opposition party, would be worth considerable to any aspiring republican, and it would also warrant very liberal compensation of the democratic traitors who sold out their party.

THE HAVERHILL CHARTER.

We are glad to see that the city of Haverhill has had the courage to take the lead in the matter of charter reform among the cities of Massachusetts.

Tomorrow it will vote upon the acceptance of a charter which is a modification of the Des Moines commission system, providing for a mayor and five members of the council to run the city government. All are to be paid; the mayor as the executive agent of the city will receive more than the others. The members of the council will be elected for two year terms, only a portion of the board retiring each year after the first election. The charter centres responsibility in such a manner that it will be much easier to keep track of the city's business in every department.

TO USE OIL AS FUEL FOR LOCOMOTIVES.

The use of oil instead of coal for fuel would remove the danger of forest fires from the shower of sparks that is regularly sent out from locomotives. If oil will serve to produce steam as well and as safely as coal there is no reason why it should not be adopted. The question is one of great importance to the whole country, for it is undoubtedly a fact that many fires ascribed to other causes are in reality due to the spark from the locomotive.

Many of the big corporations in different parts of the country are sending out slips to their employes on which to have written the political preferences of the latter. Those who are opposed to Taft will be dropped if they do not promise to vote the republican ticket.

SEEN AND HEARD

This tragic story comes from Connecticut, and it's about a very naughty individual of feminine persuasion who went on a debauch. Stories of debauches do not make pleasant reading usually, but sometimes the moral to be pointed is such that they can safely be printed. This is one of that kind of stories. It's about a poor thing named Bess. Some called her Bess Peter, because she lived on J. A. Peter's farm near Macedonia, but Mr. Peter is himself authority for the statement that Bess had been merely adopted by the family and had no real right to the name of Peter. Bess had been on the farm for a good while and had always conducted herself decorously. She was of a loving disposition—good natured, meek and obedient. She was somewhat clumsy and was never very much of a dresser, but in her own social set she was rated rather above the average in appearance and intelligence. This was the condition when one morning Farmer Peter missed Bess. He happened to need her for an important farm duty just at that time and he set about finding her. The neighbors of horses and the mooring of cows in the lower pasture attracted his attention and he turned his feet in that direction. He found Bess all right. She was laboring under a "load" as big as a mountain and having the time of her life, much to the discomfort of the cows, horses and other live stock. She was energetically chasing the animals around the pasture when Farmer Peter made his appearance. When he tried to interfere, she only laughed at him. So he went back to the house, thinking she would get hungry pretty soon and come in. Evening arrived, but Bess didn't. So the farmer went back to the pasture. All was as serene as a bank director's meeting. The farmer searched the field, but Bess was not there. Finally, just as he was about to cross to the road, he came upon the object of his search on a steep bank of the Pequabuck river. She was lying there in the cool evening, calmly watching the water. The farmer crept away. "She'll come in after awhile," he said to himself. He had not gone fifty feet, however, when he heard a splash. Returning, he discovered that Bess, overcome by remorse, had jumped in the river. He was unable to reach her, and while he stood helpless on the bank she sank for the last time. The funeral was held the next day. Thereafter Farmer Peter began an investigation to discover where Bess had obtained her intoxicant. His search ended in the orchard. There, under the trees, he found quantities of partly decayed apples. Bess had overindulged and, being a cow, she didn't know, of course, that fermented fruit is dangerous. Perhaps Bess' jag was dying out and she may have thought that the river flowing at her

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Toistol, in his own home, on the day of his jubilee, is depicted in the account C. Haggberg Wright gives of his visit to the great Russian writer as the bearer of the English congratulatory letter. "This is a very precious mark of esteem, very, very pleasant to me," Toistol said. "It is well, indeed, to receive such demonstrations on one's 50th birthday; if one received them at 30, one would really imagine one's self to be a person of some importance." Out of the 1900 and more messages received, the venerable writer appeared to take most pleasure in an address from the waiters of a music hall in Moscow. Dinner on that memorable day was at 10 o'clock, the party numbering 29. Toistol himself was wheeled into the dining room and ate his dinner with us. We drank his health quietly, and after dinner one or two of us had a little talk with him. Toistol finished the evening by playing a game of chess with a friend.

According to the inventory of the estate of the late Charles H. Bond of Boston, who died early in July of this year, the total value of said estate will not exceed $800,000 in both real and personal property. This total is much smaller than had been estimated, the statement having been made at one time that Mr. Bond had left an estate of at least $1,500,000. In view of the figures disclosed above it seems more probable than ever that the trustees will continue the work of building what Mr. Bond had planned as the Lyric theatre on Tremont street, corner of Seaver place. The estimated cost of this theatre building was $500,000. At present nothing is being done on the site, the original contractor having withdrawn.

The world's record for a baby globe trotter is held by Kathryn A. G. Morgan, who, though only eight years old, has traveled 250,000 miles, or more than eleven times around the globe. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Morgan, formerly of Chicago, whose business interests have taken him into all parts of the world.

Captain Edward H. Campbell, judge advocate general of the navy, has been detailed by Secretary McCall to make a tour of inspection of the naval prisons at Portsmouth, Boston, Mare Island and other points. Incidentally he will visit various state prisons for purposes of observation. He started from Washington, Oct. 1st.

Young Marshal Child, grandson of the late famous Chicago merchant of the same name, is a student at Eton college, England, where he has displayed unusual talent for oratory. As soon as he finishes at Eton he is to enter Harvard university and prepare himself for political life. Every year hereafter he is to spend some months at Washington, learning as much as possible of political affairs in this country.

Dr. Schumacher, an exchange teacher of German, will be at the Institute of Technology this year. His appointment was by the ministry of instruction of the Prussian government, at the suggestion of the Carnegie institute. Professor Dr. Brinkmann of Prussia is to conduct a course in conversational German at Yale this year under the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching. Dr. Brinkmann is a teacher of long experience and in Prussia has the title of "Vortragender Professor." He is the first of the teachers to come to America from Prussia under the foundation.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

New York Journal of Commerce: The two great expenses of manufacturing are labor and materials. The high price of labor is sometimes offset by its great efficiency in this country and by the far more general use of machinery. There is no such way of offsetting the higher cost of materials when enhanced directly or indirectly by customs collections. Here is a point at which immense relief can be extended to manufacturers, some of whom are dimly and others clearly conscious of it.

The manufacturer is benefited on one side by the duties of his product, he is burdened on the other by duties on his materials. Many manufacturers told the tariff commission of 1882 that they would ask no protection if they could get the duties off their materials. That has been repeated by a good many in the last two or three years. The net benefit of the tariff to the manufacturer is small and in many cases it is nothing, and manufacturers are growing more and more conscious of the fact. Four-fifths of the benefits of the tariff go ultimately to the material men who are not obliged to digests of nature, as the mines and the forests, and the sellers of such a crude natural product as wool, which is grown mainly upon the cheap lands of open parts of the public domain, in the mountain states and territories.

FATALITIES IN COAL MINES Foster's Democrat: Accidents in coal mines of the United States during the last calendar year resulted in the death of 1,013 men and injury to 5,318 more, according to statistics just made public by the geological survey. The death record was greater by 1,035 than in 1906 and is said to have been the worst year in the history of coal mining industry. The figures do not represent the full extent of the disaster, as reports were not received from certain states having no mine inspectors.

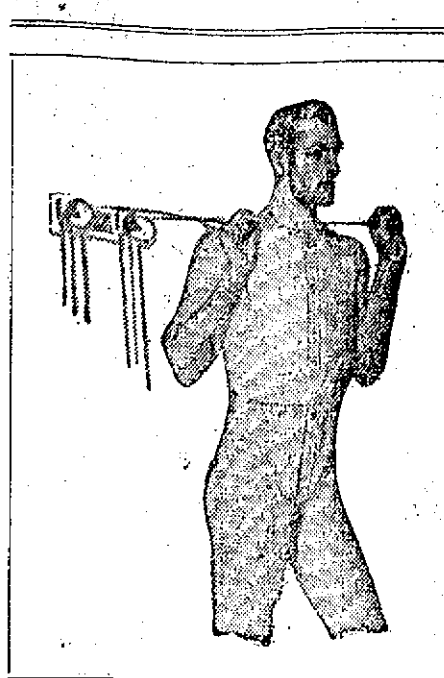

WHERE LETTERS ARE NEEDLESS New York World: Mr. Roosevelt dismisses Mr. Bryan's letter as "simply an attack upon him personally." Therefore there is "no reason why he should answer it." For this relief much thanks. Let us return to the issues of the campaign which are not personal but political:

1. Roosevelt extravagance, which has brought about two-billion-dollar congresses in place of billion-dollar congresses.

2. Roosevelt militarism, imperialism, jingoism and rough-riding, under which more than sixty-five per cent of the government's revenues

PRESIDENT'S OUTBREAKS

Providence Journal (rep.): Ordinarily the dignity attaching to the presidential office suffices to protect the incumbent from those verbal attacks to which in the heat of political campaigns lesser personages are exposed. But in this extraordinary contest Mr. Roosevelt's own excited participation has invited the recriminations of the objects of his executive censure. So that we find Governor Haskell of Oklahoma bestowing upon him such choice epithets as "four-flusher," "rascal," and "negrophobe." Considering all the circumstances, the president cannot justly complain. He has chosen to use his exalted place for the purposes of mere partisanship, and in so doing he has not confined himself within the limits of discreet epistolary composition. His recent letters have been couched in the language of the stump, and if, as was rumored yesterday, he intends to take the platform before the close of the canvass, his appearance in the role of spell-binder will hardly exceed in impropriety his performance up to date.

5000 AT GREGOIRE'S

MILLINERY EMPORIUM REVEALS THE SEASON'S DELIGHTS

More than 5000 persons visited Gregoire's millinery parlors, Friday, and more than 5000 pairs of hungry eyes were beauty fed. You know the occasion, of course. It was the Fall opening and the beauty was contained not only in the gorgeous display of hats but in store arrangements that bordered on the magnificent. The splendidly appointed store, the courtly, gracious ladies so patient and agreeable in the display of beautiful cranial toggery, orchestral music and surroundings in general filled the atmosphere with beauty and content.

It was not an occasion for the rich alone. The poor as well as the rich gathered there for there were hats and prices to suit the high and the lowly and there were none too poor to be given the utmost attention.

Madame Gregoire has surrounded herself with a bevy of beautiful girls, as charming in manner as they are in appearance and it was these gracious persons who answered all questions and told all about the beautiful hats. It was generally conceded to be the greatest millinery opening ever held in Lowell, even surpassing anything before attempted at the Gregoire millinery parlors.

Words as they come to the mind are hardly capable of describing the beauty of the hats within the walls of this splendidly appointed store. It would require a plethora of adjectives to describe the wondrous beauty of the dainty creations on exhibition and for sale there. Someone called it a "wonderland of hats" and that, in a general way, describes it. But the words are not sufficiently expansive to cover the whole. They do not express the genuine beauty, the distinct originality of the hats. To the masculine scribe who visited Gregoire's millinery parlors Friday evening the loveliness of everything within the walls of the establishment appealed, because there was there displayed the finest handiwork of man and woman, enhanced by the beautiful plumes from the tropics and the prettiest flowers from pole to pole.

If the counters had been stripped of their beautiful hats there would yet be left the beauty of the store to admire and, as to the hats, there was that indescribable something that stamped them Gregoire's own; a something that could not be duplicated and a touch of refinement in finish that appealed even to the untrained masculine eye. To describe them would require the skill of a millinery artist and we candidly avow our utter inability to make even a decent attempt.

Lowell High Made a Good Start

Spalding park, Saturday afternoon, was the scene of the initial game of the season on the gridiron for the Lowell High football team, and its members covered themselves with glory from start to finish. The opponent of the Spindle City team was the much heralded Wellington academy team of Milton, and they not only received a good drubbing but were made the recipient of an excellent kindergarten lesson as to how to play the five points of the game, thanks to the careful and painstaking tutoring of the highly efficient coach, Tom Mahoney, of the Lowell team. From the observers point of view the game was decidedly spectacular, and the Lowell team displayed a perfect performance, especially the work of the backs. Most of Lowell's scoring came in the first period of the contest.

In the second half the Lowell team presented a new lineup of second string men which gave the visitors a slight look in at the game, that is to say, they scored one touchdown, a fumble from the coat of the opponent which would be their portion had the original team remained intact throughout the game.

Whenever Lowell got possession of the pigskin the forward pass and trick plays were prominent, and contrasted with the old style playing of the visitors with straight plunging through the center and other stunts which have been relegated to the past, the Wellington boys were made to look like the proverbial thirty cents. The visitors were again deficient in punting. For instance, Captain Rooney broke through the line, succeeded in blocking the punt, and fell on the ball which had rolled over the goal line, capturing the touchdown. O'Donoghue missed his goal, and the score was 6-0.

Wellington after Lowell kicked off received the ball on its 20-yard line and was unable to advance it. The visitors punted and Lowell then took possession of the ball on her own 30-yard line. A forward pass, neatly worked by Hyman and Canney through the center, netted 20 yards, and then Lavigne, settled for a fake kick. The ball became lost in the mixup, and rolled behind the goal line, and was fallen upon by one of Wellington's players, constituting a touchback. The visitors then punted out from their 15-yard line and the Spindle City boys advanced the ball 18 yards before parting with it on the forward pass, here the Wellington team made its distance for the first time in the game, but lost the ball right away quick on a fumble. Canney carried pigskin 11 yards, Connell added 10 and Canney took it over the line for the second touchdown. Rooney kicked the goal. Score 11-0.

After receiving a blow in the head, during a scrimmage, Bolles, the hustling right half back of the visitors, was taken out of the game and Sawyer a muscular and stocky individual supplanted him.

After receiving the ball from Lowell on the kick off, Wellington was compelled to punt, and this time for three yards, from an attempted double pass. O'Donoghue caught the punt, and ran 15 yards, before he was downed. Connell ripped off five yards, and Hyman caught a beautiful forward pass, for a gain of 16. After one more forward pass, Canney carried the ball over the line for the third touchdown. Score 16-0. Rooney failed to kick the goal. Just after the ball was put in play again time was called announcing the end of the first period.

Second Period

In the second period, within five minutes of play the fourth and last touch down of the Lowell team came. The latter, however, was penalized 15 yards because the ball touched the ground on the forward pass before Hyman could get to it. This was on Wellington's 20-yard line and it took but three plays to send the leather over the line. Connell, making the touchdown. Score 21-0. Rooney kicked the goal. Score 21-0.

Here the subs of the Lowell team began to take the places of the regular men as Coach Mahoney was well satisfied that he had the game cinched.

When twenty yards from their opponents line Wellington blocked a forward pass, and Fottler, the full back of the team, made the solitary touch down for the visitors. After this there was no more scoring. The final result being Lowell 22, Wellington 3. Touchdown and score:

TIGERS 5; INDIANS 0

The Indians were defeated by the Tigers on the Fair grounds Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 0. The game was very exciting and it was not until the latter part of the last half that the touchdown was scored.

Next Saturday the Indians will journey to Lawrence where they will play a strong team in that city.

Tuesday and Friday evenings the Indians will practice and many new men will be given a try out. Billy Clinton, the clever boxer, will be given a try out with the team and it is expected that a great lineup will constitute the down river aggregation next Saturday.

NORTH BILLERICA WON

In a hotly contested game of soccer ball in Lawrence on Saturday afternoon the North Billerica team defeated the Lawrence team by a score of 1 to 0. The forwards combined better than on any previous occasion, and from one of the passing movements, Woodcock scored a clever goal. The half-backs, led by Capt. Butler, completely blocked the Lawrence forwards at every stage of the game. The backs and goal-keeper, played a fine defensive game, especially Butler.

Ritchie made his first appearance as a referee, and was all right. Butler is the finest all around player in the league. Hardy, J. Blake and Oates played a stone wall defence. The following was the lineup:

Goal: W. Oates; full backs: G. Hardy, J. Gettings; half backs: T. Gallagher, F. Butler, captain; T. Burke; forwards: R. Smith, J. Walsley, J. Clapin, W. Woodcock, B. Burke; line-man: J. Gallagher. Referee, T. Ritchie of Lowell. Time—45 min. Halves.

NEW YORK TEAM

In Great Danger of Losing to the Pennant

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—In a perfect score for the remainder of the season now lies New York's only hope of winning the National League pennant.

With three games remaining to be played, the decision of the pennant even to tie with Chicago is a pennant race unless the league directors should vote to give the New Yorkers a disputed game with Chicago which at present is recorded as a tie.

In that event three successive victories would give New York the flag, but on the other hand, if the decision of the directors should be favorable to Chicago even a perfect score for the remainder of the season would avail New York nothing. There appears to be little likelihood, however, that the decision of the umpires in the disputed game will be overruled in the series between New York and Boston which begins in this city is regarded as the real test in the year's sensational play. A tie at the end of the season would necessitate a play-off between the leaders and it is likely that an additional series of three games would be arranged for that purpose.

The home team's remaining three games will be played with Boston on the Polo grounds in this city. Neither Pittsburgh or Chicago has any more games to play this year under the regular schedule.

The remarkably close race for the American League honors continues to grow steadily closer as the season nears its end.

By losing to Chicago yesterday Detroit's lead in the leading position was distinctly weakened and one of the three leaders—Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago—may finish the season in the coveted position.

SILVER WEDDING

Observed by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Walker

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher C. Walker of North Billerica observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage Saturday night at their home in Talbot avenue. More than 100 guests were present including relatives and friends from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Andover.

Between four and nine o'clock an informal reception was held and the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends.

Lunch was served and a musical and literary program was carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker were the recipients of numerous presents. The happy couple were united in marriage in Billerica, Oct. 5, 1883 by Rev. William Farror, who was then pastor of the North Billerica Baptist church. They have resided here ever since.

Mr. Walker was born in Warrington, Lancashire, England, in 1854 and came to this country in 1881, coming directly to North Billerica. He entered the employ of the Talbot mills as a spinner and later was made night watchman for the concern, a position he still holds.

Mrs. Walker was Mrs. Annie Barnes previous to her marriage, and was born in Melbourne, Australia, but moved to England with her parents when very young. She came to the United States in 1880. Four children have been born to the couple, two boys and two girls, all of whom reside in North Billerica.

$2500 REWARD

Offered for Return of Certificates

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—A reward of $3000 has been offered by A. B. Turner & Co. brokers, at 24 Milk street for the arrest and conviction of Richard F. Parker, who, it is alleged, on Sept. 10, obtained $33,000 worth of bonds from the firm on a forged certified check, and the return of the bonds.

The firm offers $500 for the arrest of the man and $250 for the recovery of the bonds. The bonds are listed as follows:

$5000—Northern Pacific—Great Northern joint gold bonds, Burlington collateral 4 per cent. 20-year, due July 1, 1921, Nos. 72,562, 72,521, 72,520, 72,519, 72,518.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"THE LION AND THE MOUSE."

At the Opera House next Thursday Henry B. Harris will produce Charles Klein's greatest play, "The Lion and the Mouse," a drama which has achieved the greatest success in theatrical annals in the past ten years. The premiere production of this piece was given in Boston four years ago and was played at the Lyceum theatre, New York, for months without a stage break which is a record no other production has equalled, as at some time during the summer, other attractions have been compelled to close at least for a period of two to four weeks.

It may be said in truth that "The Lion and the Mouse," purporting as it does to be a financial life of the upper class of Americans today, is the greatest American play for which the public have long been waiting. It appeals because of its vivid picturing of these phases of life which are today on everyone's tongue and because of its absolute truth. The cast includes a number of players especially selected by Mr. Harris for the presentation of this great drama.

CATHERINE CALHOUN AS "MIMI" IN "THE DEVIL"

FINE PRODUCTION

"The Devil" at Opera House Tonight

Henry W. Savage's sole authorized production of "The Devil," will be seen for the first time in this city at the Lowell Opera House tonight.

"The Devil," is the allegorical comedy that has created so great a sensation in New York, where Mr. Savage presented it for the first time in America in mid-August, at the Garden theatre, that has won similar complete triumphs in Philadelphia, Chicago and other important cities and that for two years has been the reigning success of continental Europe.

"The Devil" is by Franz Molnar, one of the best-known journalists and publicists of Hungary, whose fame as a dramatist by virtue of this play is not excelled by any living writer. The adaptation into English is the work of that brilliant writer of satirical humor, Oliver Herford, author of "The Cynical Calendar," and in the opinion of metropolitan critics, is Mr. Herford's ablest work.

"The Devil," is a satirical comedy which pictures in daring fashion the struggle of the evil that is within us personified in the figure of the devil to overcome the instincts toward righteousness that are similarly within ourselves. The lesson is that none dare play with fire, but no person shall hold too great pride in his powers to resist temptation. The whole theme—a theme that is wonderfully human and gripping, is treated in terms of the most sparkling wit and humor, with every touch of diablic and sardonic fun.

Mr. Molnar's unique conception of this Prince of Darkness wears none of the conventional signs of what might be called the presentation of the evil spirit, but, pointed horns, cloven hoof nor any ma of burning brimstone. This devil is an eccentric, fantastic, caustic, sardonic creature who might readily pass as a man-of-the-world, a polished, cultivated brilliant human being, were it not for certain traces of the supernatural that crop up from time to time to establish the fact of his real status. Nor is this devil a figure solely of menace. He is a wit, a satirist par excellence, a flashing figure who captivates all by reason of his cleverness, his daring, his intellectual power.

As for the play itself, it is first and always a comedy, possibly one with bitter moments, but never a sombre psychological drama. Nor are the purely human characters lacking in interest and importance. No more appealing figures in modern stage drama are there than Karl and Olga, Jim, Elsa, Hofmann and the several other principal figures in the story.

Mr. Savage's high repute as one of the chief producing managers in America is a repute so brilliantly established with his great productions of grand opera and of light opera on the one hand, and of the best in the drama on the other—bespeaks the complete worthiness not merely of this fascinating play, but of the manner of its presentation as well.

A distinguished company comprising such eminent players as W. L. Abington, Edmund Egan, P. Percival Stevens, William J. Gross, Jane Oaker, Catherine Calhoun and Marguerite Snow, conceded to be one of the finest acting organizations of recent seasons, is engaged. The scenic equipment is an exact replica of the beautiful setting given the play in Vienna and Budapest, while the absolute correctness of the interpretation is assured by the fact that Mr. Savage had come to this country specially to stage the play, Herr Julius Herold, director-general of the famous Volks-theatre, Vienna, probably the ablest producer in all Europe and also a personal friend of the author's and that personage's collaborator in the making of the German version of "The Devil."

The engagement at the Lowell Opera House is limited to tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday evenings, with a matinee on Wednesday only.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

From opening act to pictures, the show at Hathaway's theatre this week is a vaudeville gem, and a treat in store for patrons of the popular playhouse to-day. Every number is of headline importance, and the whole makes up a program that would look well in any metropolitan theatre. First to be mentioned among the many noteworthy acts on the stellar program is in dramatic form, a beautiful dramatic farce, presented by Emmett Devoy, and a talented company. As far as detail of production is concerned, this act is more extensive and intricate than many dramatic offerings, the presentation of the story being from two and a half to three hours. The company numbers five, exclusive of Mr. Devoy, and there is a complete scenic production. For the creation of the numerous illusion effects, which are a feature of the act, the services of two electricians are required. A number of the properties used are of such a nature that they had to be built especially for the production, and must be transported from place to place. Thus, while giving twenty minutes' entertainment, Mr. Devoy is obliged to attend to nearly as many business details as would be the case were the actor and business manager of a large dramatic production. The success that has accompanied his presentation of "In Dreamland," however, has repaid him well for the heavy strain put upon his resources. For Devoy does play a heavy and dramatic part, and an admirable actor, both comedy and emotional. In the sketch, Hermione Snow is charming in the role of a daughter of Venus, and Alleen Goodwin plays the part of a neglected wife skillfully. Hal Conner is amusing in the role of a busy bell boy.

Just the mere mention of the name of Charles F. Simon is enough to arouse expectancy. Mr. Simon has successfully claimed the title of "America's most famous musical comedian," and his drivelles are inimitable. He possesses a figure which has the general proportions of a soda straw, and his extreme emaciation forms no mean portion of his stock in trade. Every move made by "The National Feller," as Mr. Simon calls himself, is funny, and his musical oddities always elicit screams of laughter. Foster and Harris, premier comedians after an aerial act that is remarkable for the daring of the feats attempted, and the ease and sureness of their accomplishment. Alie Gilbert, comedienne, has a sweet voice and a winning way, and her magnetic personality will insure her the favor of all Hathaway patrons. Horton Knight & Co., will give pleasure with their charming rural sketch, "The Chalk Farm." The action of the play takes place at a country store and consists of the winter time, the sketch, which was written by Una Clayton, combining comedy and pathos that are deftly mingled. Carney and Wagner are a duo of dancers who learned all the steps in the catalogue and then invented many of their own, their repertoire being apparently unlimited, and their grace of movement working the exhibition most pleasing. Walter and Muller, two male comedians, possess fine voices, contribute a delightful singing act. New and interesting moving pictures complete the bill.

TWO SMALL FIRES

Called Out the Department Yesterday

The alarm from box 125 at 6:45 Sunday evening was for a small fire in a house in Lewis street, near the Greek church. An overturned lamp was responsible for the fire and the damage was slight. Shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the department responded to a telephone alarm from the lower part of the district. It was a grass fire and didn't amount to much.

STAR THEATRE

Business is surely on the boom at the Star, which no doubt, is due to the high quality of the shows. It would be hard to find a show anywhere to equal it for the money.

This Jim Henry, monologist, singing and dancing comedian, who is well known and a great favorite in Lowell, will tell this week. His popularity and ability are sure to bring large audiences.

Babe Curry will be heard in "Take Your Girl to the Ball Game." While J. C. Bell, will sing "When Sweet Marie Was Sweet Sixteen." Not the very latest, but among the best.

Some excellent comedy pictures are on exhibition and making a hit. "The Latest Traveler," "In Curious Japan," is very interesting and instructive.

FUNNYLAND

Today's feature in Funnyland is a thrilling dramatic picture entitled "Revenge vs. Duty." This picture is one that tells of a fireman's life in a most thrilling manner. The hero is married and his wife and little child are apparently happy, but a sick stranger induces the wife to elope with him. The fireman takes his child to a neighbor and resolves to forget his wife. An alarm of fire sounds and he with the rest of the force responds. He goes into the burning building only to find his wife and her lover unconscious from smoke. His revenge is here and he leaves them to their fate. Once outside his conscience troubles him and he is at a loss to decide between revenge and duty but the latter triumphs and he goes back into the burning building and rescues the man and his wife. Later she comes to him asking to be forgiven but he refuses and devotes his life to making his little girl happy.

JEWISH FEAST

Of Yom Kippur Observed Today

Beginning with the Kol Nidrey last evening and ending with the solemn blast of the Shofar at sundown today, the Day of Atonement will be celebrated by all the Jews of Lowell, both orthodox and reformed. Services will be held in the synagogue on McIntyre street and also in the three synagogues in Howard street.

This day of Yom Kippur is the most important in the Jewish calendar marking the end of the penitential period, which began with the celebration of Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year referred to in length in the Sun of Monday last.

Among the orthodox Hebrews, Yom Kippur is kept as a solemn fast. For the full 24 hours there is no eating and drinking and the time is spent in prayers for forgiveness of the sins which have been committed during the year.

There will be four sets of prayers,

DEATHS

MAXWELL—Charles S. Maxwell,

postmaster of North Billerica, died last night at 8.30 after a brief illness. Deceased was one of the best known men in Billerica, having lived there for nearly 40 years. He was born in Baltimore, Md., and came north with his parents during his early boyhood locating in Ballardvale, Mass. Soon after the family moved to North Billerica and he resided there up to the time of his death. In his younger days, Mr. Maxwell had the reputation of being one of the best baseball players in the state and was identified with some of the fastest independent teams in New England. For years he played second base and captained the famous T. R. & T's when that team was first organized, being one of the mainstays of the club during the time he was connected with it. Later he played with the celebrated "Hoods" of Lowell, being captain of that team. He also saw service with the clubs that represented Medford, Marlboro and Detroit, Mich. Mr. Maxwell was appointed postmaster of North Billerica by the late President McKinley in 1896. Previous to that time he was employed as a dresser in the Talbot mills. Deceased was a member of Danforth lodge, Knights of Pythias. He is survived by a wife, three daughters, Misses Florence and Cora and Mrs. Fred Cunley, two brothers, William, E. and Stewart, Maxwell and two sisters, Mrs. Lawrence W. Buckley and Mrs. Martha Wozencroft.

CASEY—John Casey, aged 8 months, died last night at the home of his parents, William J. and Bridget Casey, 4 Sullivan court, off Fenwick street.

MURPHY—Mr. John Murphy, a well known and respected resident of Centralville, died Sunday evening at his home, No. 79 Third street, aged 60 years. He is survived by three sisters, Margaret and Ann Murphy, and Mrs.

Henry Quinn, and one brother, Nell Murphy, all of this city.

LEBRECQUE—Irene, infant daughter of Charles Labrecque, died yesterday at 14 Decatur street.

DORE—Mr. Walter B. Dore passed away at the home of Mr. Orrison A. Knapp, 56 Royal street, on Sunday evening, aged 22 years. He is survived by his father, Orrin Dore, one brother, Albert Dore, and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Chadbourne and Mrs. Mabel A. Knapp.

CLARK—Fannie Maria Clark, aged 55 years, died this morning at 107 Clark road. She was the daughter of the late Joshua Clark and is survived by one sister and five brothers. She was a former teacher in the Highland school and was a highly esteemed member of the High street Congregational church. Funeral notice later.

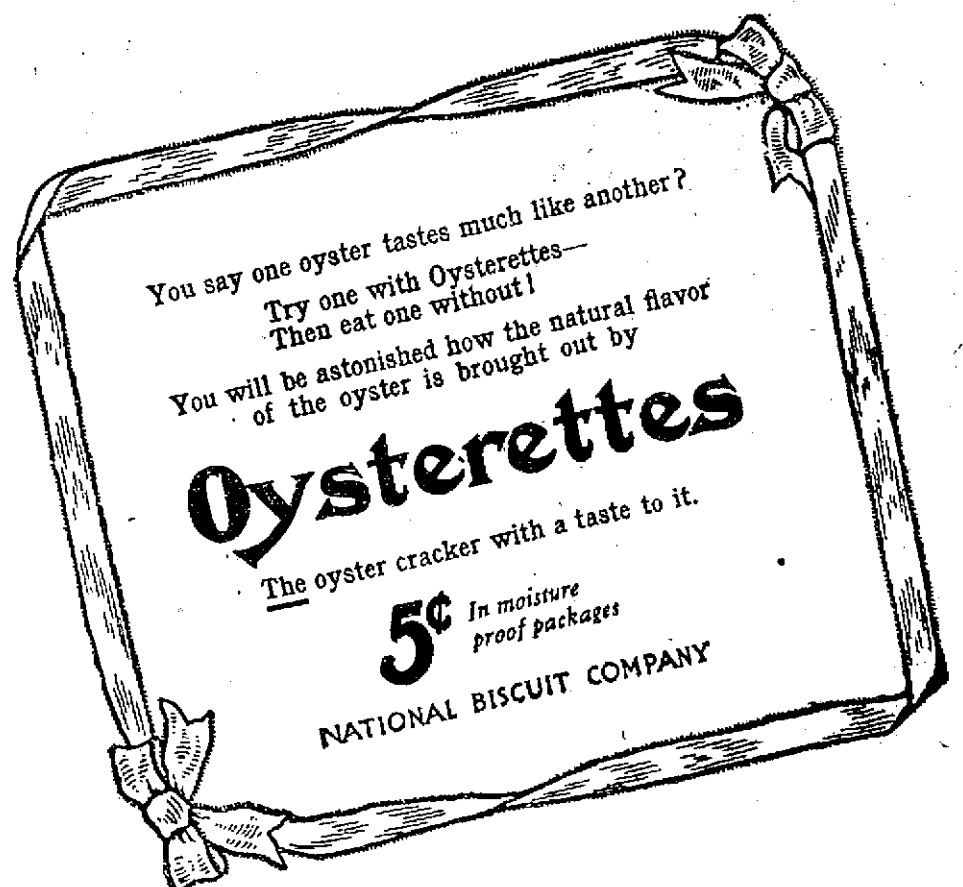

SAUNDERS—George A. Saunders, aged 73 years, died yesterday at Dr. Flint's sanatorium in Dracut. He was an old resident of Lowell and will be remembered as a former member of the firm of Mellor and Saunders who at one time conducted an establishment on Prescott street.

WIGGIN—Susan A. Rogers, widow of the late Joseph H. Wiggin of Manchester, N. H., died in Tewksbury Centre on Friday.

LAWN—William Eugene Lawn, aged 1 year, 2 months, son of Hugh A. and Julia Lawn, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 18 Third street.

MASS. POLICE ASSOCIATION

The Massachusetts Police association convention will be held in Lincoln hall this city, on Wednesday, Oct. 14. In the evening the delegates will be tendered a banquet by the Lowell police officers at the New American House.

Stage Beauties Seen In New Dramas

Lillian Russell In "Wildfire," Hattie Williams In "Fluffy Ruffles"
and Mary Mannering In "Glorious Betsy"

(From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.)

THE stars are flocking back to the metropolitan boards in overwhelming numbers. He who would keep track of the new productions should engage a secretary and confine him exclusively to the task. Mary Mannering in "Glorious Betsy," Hattie Williams in "Fluffy Ruffles," Lillian Russell in "Wildfire," and Carlotta Nilsen in "Diana of Dobson's" are among the new attractions. Miss Mannering has played to large business in "Glorious Betsy" on the road for upward of two seasons. Mrs. Rida Johnson Young built for her a drama of the "historical novel" type—that is, a smattering of more or less inaccurate history and a burdensome plenitude of romantic imagery, which is the soul mate of dramatic license, combined in varying proportions. But it was certainly Miss Mannering, and not the play, that attracted large audiences on tour, and it is her personality that will give the play whatever New York vogue it attains. In fact, the production can be summed up by stating that Miss Mannering scores a decided personal success in her Lyric theater performances.

Story of the Play.

"Glorious Betsy" tells of the career of Betsy Patterson of Baltimore and Jerome Bonaparte, youngest brother of the great Napoleon.

When Jerome Bonaparte came to this country he met the glorious Betsy, who was the most glorious girl within a hundred miles of Chesapeake bay. He poses as a poor French tutor and fastens a strange hold on the intermittently torrid affections of the blue ribbon beauty of Baltimore county.

Betsy literally wallows in the halcyon joys of sanctified adoration until that awful day when the naughty Emperor Napoleon decides that Jerome shall become king of Westphalia—where the hams come from. It is a matter of history that Jerome Bonaparte was by imperial edict thrust heading into marriage with the Duchess of Westphalia, but Mrs. Young overcomes a little faux pas like that with ridiculous ease.

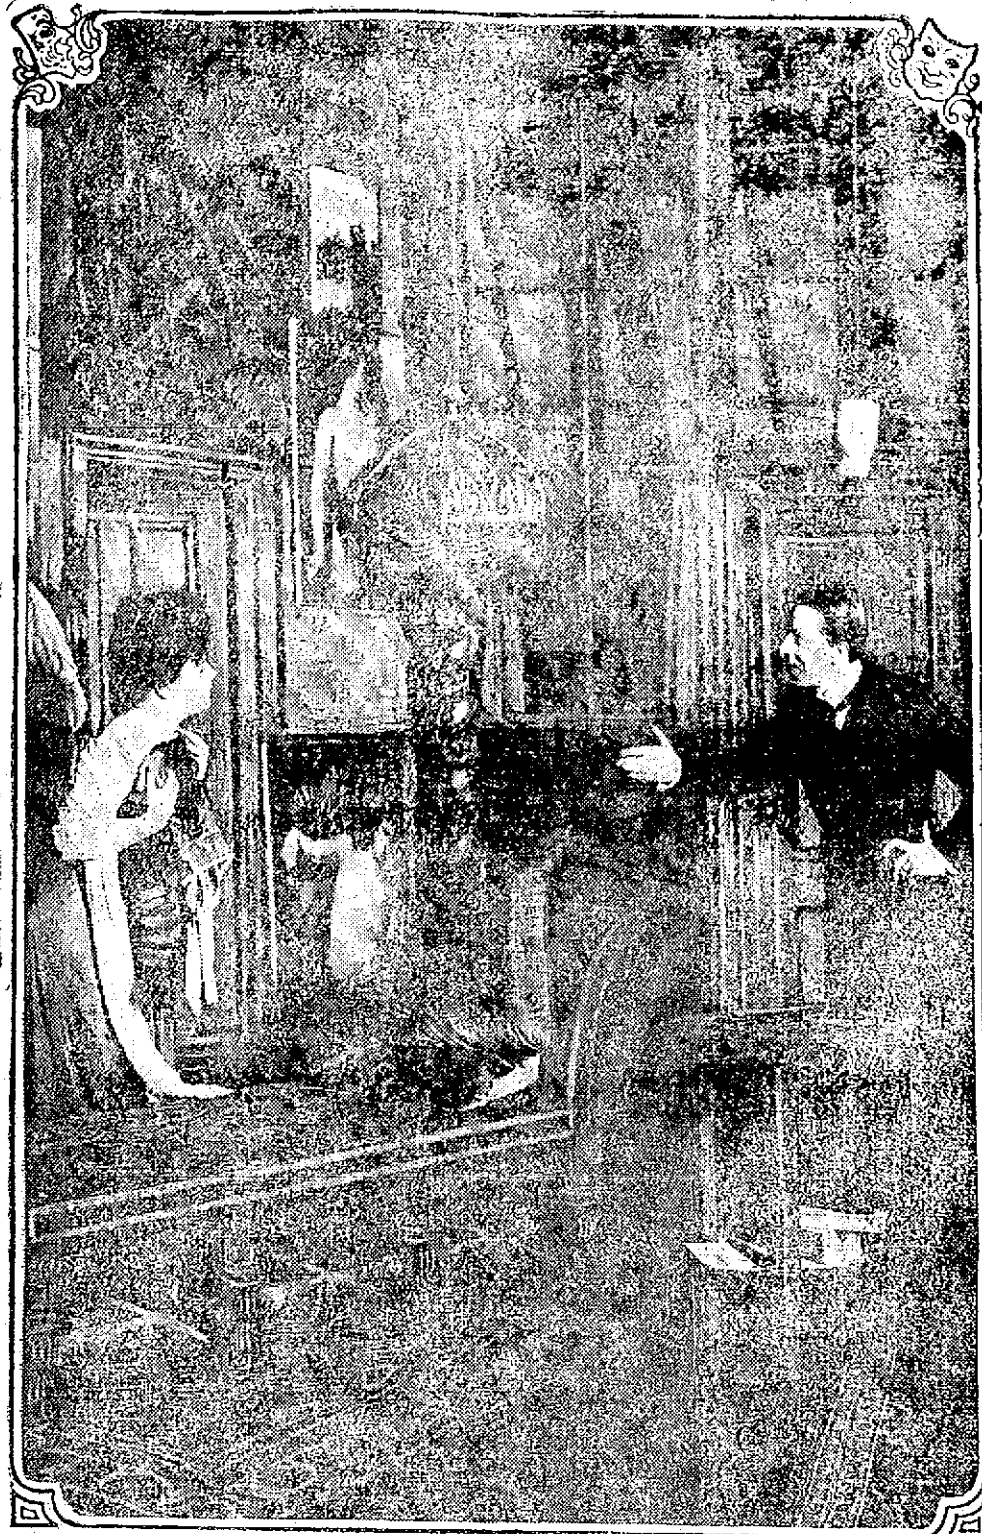

She simply decides that Jerome did nothing of the sort, and she supplies him with a return ticket that brings him "back, back, back to Baltimore" in time narrowly to escape smothering to death in the loving embrace of the impulsive Betsy.

Napoleon I. himself appears in the person of Claude Brooke. Jerome was played by George Howard in an ardent manner. In an ingenue role Helen Macbeth Pitts and Butters to and fro in effervescent fashion.

Miss Russell in "Wildfire."

In "Wildfire," at the Liberty theater, Lillian Russell has a play by George H. Broadhurst and George V. Hobart, evolved from a one act vaudeville sketch by Hobart, entitled "Peaches."

The play is full of action, and Miss Russell completes an ensemble that cannot fail to win. "Wildfire" is a racing play and meets practically every demand of varieties of stage realism.

GRACE ELLISTON.

FAMOUS STUDIO SCENE IN "THE DEVIL," BELASCO THEATER, NEW YORK.

The beautiful Miss Russell, looking as youthful and radiant as she did fifteen years or more ago, fills the hearts of her hundreds of worshippers with admiration and the brains of envious women with the query, "How does she do it?"

Miss Russell is seen as Mrs. Henrietta Barrington, a dashing widow who has to perform all sorts of feats of sentimental jugglery with a pair of energetic lovers and a heavy villain. Likewise and pre-eminently, she has on her hands that wonderful running horse Wildfire, which ultimately, in a hard won race, wins for the widow sufficient money to put her back on the pedestal of financial stability. Oh, it's a splendid thing to own a race horse—on the stage!

How the "Heavy" Is Foiled.

The "great situation" is where the villain is thwarted in his design to notify the jockey to pull the race by Miss Russell, who cajoles him half out of his senses and finally grubs from his nerveless fingers the handkerchief meant for the signal. It was a transparent little scene, but Miss Russell shone so brilliantly through it that the man who runs the Liberty curtain was kept busy for ten minutes attending to his duties.

Frank Sheridan plays Matt Donovan, a horse trainer, true to the actual traditions of race track life, and Ernest Truax makes a hit as a little negro jockey.

"Fluffy Ruffles."

Hattie Williams is at the Criterion theater with "Fluffy Ruffles," a play based on a series of newspaper features.

The play is a musical melange written by John J. McNally, who did all the Rogers brothers' plays and who has for a score of years been identified with works of this sort upon the American stage. The music is by W. T. Francis and Jerome Kern. Mr. McNally's play is based upon the job getting and job losing experiences of Fluffy Ruffles. The young woman loses her situations through no other fault of her own than her personal attractiveness, which draws so many men to the shops in which she is employed that business has to be suspended.

Mr. McNally introduces the young woman in American surroundings, then takes her to London and completes her romance in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris. The most conspicuous member of her company is George Grossmith, Jr., who comes from the Gaiety theater, London, for this engagement. It is his first appearance in America since he was here with Edna May in "The School Girl."

Frederick Triggles

ADE'S LATEST PLAY.

George Ade has delivered to Cohan & Harris the complete manuscript of "The City Chap," a new comedy, in which that firm will present Jack Norworth late in the autumn. Mr. Ade looked over the scene models and pronounced them perfect. "The City Chap" has as one of its characters a type of modern negro, to which the dramatist has given long and conscientious thought. The role was written with Willis P. Sweatman in mind, and so pleased was he with the characterization that he signed a contract

"Astounding!" said Clarendon. "Some two years ago," continued the Dandy, "I visited the family of a farmer up here. Coming to breakfast one morning, I found everything in confusion. The farmer's wife was weeping, the children were crying, and the farmer himself could not keep back with Cohan & Harris. A strong company is being engaged, as "The City Chap" is to have an unusually elaborate presentation.

DANDY ON DAKOTA FARMS.

J. Hayden-Clarendon, who played Arlie in "The Prince of Pilsen," is thoroughly English, and Jess Dandy took pride in impressing upon him the wonderful resources and magnitude of the country. During a trip of the company across North Dakota, Dandy called Clarendon's attention to the great Dalrymple farm and, by way of illustrating its immense acreage, remarked that a farm hand would start out in the spring and plow a straight furrow till fall and then turn around and harvest the crop on his way back.

"My word!" gasped Clarendon. "And there are farms in this state," said Dandy, "where it's the usual thing to send young married couples out to milk the cows, and their children bring home the milk."

his tears as he embraced them and said goodbye. "Where was he going?" said Clarendon.

"He was going halfway across the farm to feed the pigs," Dandy replied. "Did he ever get back?" Clarendon inquired. "It isn't time for him to return yet," Dandy replied, gazing stolidly out of the window.

SHORT STAGE NOTES.

Klaw & Erlanger have engaged Edna May Spooner to play a leading part in a play of Kentucky life called "The Mountain Boy."

Beatrice Proutie is appearing in "The Call of the North" with Robert Edson.

W. J. Ferguson is to be Fritz Schell's principal comedian this season in "The Prima Donna."

Four Close Pennant Races Revive "Frenzied Baseball"

IN addition to topping all records in the way of attendance and receipts, the big league baseball season now closing has brought about more excitement and uncertainty than any year within the memory of the oldest inhabitant of the twenty-five cent bleachers. In short, the day of "frenzied baseball" has again dawned in the land.

In four prominent leagues the pennant races bordered on the nerve-racking stage much of the campaign. In the National and American leagues the final issue has not yet been officially decided, and later comes the world's championship series between the two major league pennant winners. But in the Eastern league and the American association the schedules have been completed.

Eastern League Fight.

The struggle between Baltimore and Providence, with Newark trailing, gave the Eastern league fans all for their money that they could possibly expect. The Baltimore were materially strengthened by the acquisition of Sam Dicklin, better known as Sammy Strong, formerly utility man for the New York Nationals. Nicklin was put in second at Baltimore.

WORLD'S CHAMPION MOTOR BOAT, DIXIE II, AND HER CAPTAIN, S. BARCLAY PEARCE.

Dixie II. has won for America the world's motor boat championship and is continuing a record smashing career. To Captain Pearce is given much of the credit for the sensational racing of the craft. Dixie II. is owned in New York.

The Providence Grays were very fortunate in the successful pitching of Ralph Glaze, who heads the team's list of winning pitchers, and Jack Cronin. Cronin won two games in one day for Providence, and the Rochester were his victims. He thus won the sobriquet of "Iron Man of the Eastern League."

In fact, the pitching throughout the Eastern league has been of high class, as witness the fact that on Sept. 15 only one man in the entire circuit had a batting average of over .300. He was Right Fielder O'Neill of Montreal.

American Association.

The American association closed its seventh annual championship race in a blaze of green diamond glory. During the latter part of the season Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo were the prominent pennant favorites. Louisville and Indianapolis got so close together that a postage stamp would have covered both teams. As a result, baseball ruled the roost in those two cities as it has never done before. Two former Pittsburg players contributed considerably to the string-finish of the Kentucky Colonels. They were Heinie Peitz, catcher, and Swacina, who was dropped from the Pirates' first-back because of an indisposition to avoid costly errors. Minor league medicine apparently rejuvenated Swacina's system. The former big league pitcher, Ed Stever, performed ably in the box for Indianapolis. He was the man the Colonels most feared.

As a result of these four close finishes, including the two three-cornered contests in the National and American leagues, the baseball public has been threatened with brain fever, and, after all, perhaps it is a good thing that the head cooling fall weather is due in various parts of the country.

Versatile Moran.

Moran, the St. Louis Nationals' new catcher, is something of an all around performer. He broke into the big leagues as a pitcher five or six years ago and was on the Cardinal hurling staff at that time. He was too wild to pitch, so was tried on third base and then let out to the minors. Since then he has learned to catch and returns in that capacity.

Ty Cobb's Vanquisher.

Bailey of St. Louis is the one pitcher of the American league who can hang the Indian sign on Ty Cobb, the league's champion batsman. Bailey has pitched four games against Detroit this season, and in thirteen times at the bat Cobb has made but one hit off his delivery, and that of a Texas League variety.

Lajoie's Protege.

Napoleon Lajoie's pet, Pudge Powers, the lad who acted as Cleveland's mascot from 1904 to 1907 and who is being educated at Lajoie's expense, has developed into a big boy and a corking good amateur ball player.

Trolley's Boom Baseball.

There is a new factor in baseball which is doing wonders toward organizing leagues in towns and villages. It is the trolley line. Trolley leagues are springing up in every direction. On some lines of electric railroad there may be half a dozen towns. The fare from one extremity of the system to the other is so small that the players can easily afford to pay it, and they are encouraged to put up small grounds and small stands, not without any particular desire for revenue, but with the idea of affording summer amusement to the places in which they live and of course with the added eagerness of winning the championship of their section for their own particular village.

JOHNNY KLING AT THE BAT.

While generally considered the best baseball catcher in the country, Johnny Kling of the Chicago Nationals is also a thoroughly reliable batsman. As a pinch hitter he has few superiors. As shown in the photo, Kling has an easy batting pose and one that permits of a powerful shoulder swing. Kling catches more men who attempt to steal second base than any other backstop in the country.

Ten years from now the United States will be covered with a myriad more of trolley leagues, from which in time will spring some of the great players of that epoch in professional baseball.

Looks Bad For Racing.

That the eastern racing season of 1905, which is drawing to a close, has been a financial failure for the horsemen no one will doubt who has attended the meetings recently, as the attendance has dropped to insignificant proportions. Take the running of the great Futurity this year, for instance. Usually one of the best drawing cards of the entire season, when it was run off this year there were something like 9,000 people present to witness the great event. Of course the fact that betting is not allowed at the tracks now is the reason for the slim attendance, and track owners have been pouring back a steady stream of the money they have made out of racing in previous years.

Under the circumstances turfmen are not paying nearly one-quarter as much for horses as they did a year or two ago. Only recently Hermis, for whom E. R. Thomas paid L. V. Bell $50,000, was sold for $300. In the prosperous days of racing Hermis would have brought from $100,000 to $150,000 anyway. Now comes the announcement that James R. Keene, Harry Payne Whitney and August Belmont have engaged training quarters in England and France for next season. Many of their horses are entered in the big stakes to be run abroad. Keene, Whitney and Belmont are three of the pillars of the American turf, but with the departure of their horses to foreign shores it looks as if the backbone of racing in the east has been run.

CHARLES E. EDWARDS.

SEBRING BUSY AGAIN.

The national baseball commission, which will have to consider the Weimer case, will soon get a chance to take up the Sebring matter again. Sebring is in Cincinnati now and will present a plan for reinstatement. Sebring has repeated of the offense that led to his banishment to the outlaw league and comes with the plea that he be permitted to earn a living in regularly recognized baseball society. He has been released from the Harrisburg club in the Tristate league, with no hope of playing baseball unless he is restored to good standing by the commission. His necessity and his regret for misbehavior will be the foundation of his plea for restoration. He states that he is on the reserve list of the Chicago National team and hopes to join that team.

JOHNSON AND BURNS.

Jack Johnson, the American negro pugilist, has signed articles for a fight with Tommy Burns, the American champion, the fight to take place in Sydney, Australia, in December and to be for the championship of the world. The terms of the match provide that the winner shall receive $30,000 and the loser $20,000.

NIGHT EDITION

Venerable Prelate of Hartford, Conn., Died This Afternoon

HARTFORD, Oct. 5.—Right Rev. Bishop Tierney, bishop of the diocese of Connecticut who was stricken with apoplexy Saturday evening, died this afternoon. A about 9 o'clock it was stated that during the late night the bishop had two sinking spells in which it was thought that he would depart but towards daylight the patient rallied a little. The sinking spell at four o'clock was such that the watchers at the bedside feared the end had come.

The bishop's age was against him, he being in his 69th year and in addition the increasing duties of recent years had brought a great tax upon his energies. Bishop Tierney had been in his usual health of late and the attack of apoplexy was almost without warning. Saturday evening after supper he spoke of not feeling quite well and laying down an evening paper which he had been reading, he arose to go up stairs. He was assisted to his room and his personal physician, Dr. Kane, was called. Some hours later the real significance of the illness was seen and the sacraments of the church were administered by the priests of the household. During yesterday the bishop noticeably weakened and finally lost consciousness. Immediate relatives were summoned and they have remained near at hand since then, Bishop Beaven of the Springfield diocese also being at the bedside.

Vicar General Right Rev. John Synnot took over the administration of the diocese until the outcome of Bishop Tierney's illness is evident.

The bishop's residence is in Farmington avenue and here all day yesterday through the night and day a great number of messages of inquiry and of sympathy have come to the priests of the household from all over the country, for Bishop Tierney is one of the best-known clergymen in the country.

In the Protestant pulpits of the city yesterday, feeling reference was made to the head of the Catholic diocese.

Rev. Joseph Twichell of the Asylum Hill Congregational church and a member of the Yale corporation, said in the course of the appreciation of the life work of the bishop.

"If it be so that in the orderings of the Divine Providence his work in the Catholic church be ended, great, indeed, is the loss and great and lasting the grief caused by it."

Bishop Tierney was a pioneer among the Catholic prelates in the United States in providing for the spiritual needs of Catholic immigrants. Each year he sent abroad to the seminaries in Italy, France, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland, Austria-Poland and Hungary ecclesiastical students who had been trained in his own diocesan seminary of St. Thomas in Hartford and in other seminaries in the United States. The bishop believed that with their preliminary training in America they would acquire the languages and noting the national customs he better able to minister to these people during their sojourn in this country. At the present time there are thirty-seven of these students abroad.

To further meet the needs of Catholics from other lands, he gave place in his diocese to both secular and regular priests, among them being the Lasalle fathers from Grenoble, France, located in Hartford; the fathers of the Congregation of St. Charles from Placentia, Italy, located in New Haven and Bridgeport; the Vincentian fathers from Cracow, Austria, located in New Haven and Derby.

The religious communities of women in the diocese of Hartford who owe their introduction to Bishop Tierney, are the Sisters of Charity in charge of the day nursery in Waterbury; the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent of Paul, in charge of St. Vincent's hospital, Bridgeport; Sisters of St. Joseph of Chambers, France, in charge of St. Francis's hospital, Hartford; and St. Mary's school in Windsor Locks; the Sisters of the Holy Ghost who have foundations in Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport and Waterbury.

During his fourteen years as bishop of Hartford diocese, Bishop Tierney "congregated" over 30,000 children and on these occasions administered the total abstinence pledge to the children and thousands of adults.

About twelve years ago Bishop Tierney purchased the Connecticut Catholic and published it later as the Catholic Transcript, making it his diocesan organ under the editorship of Rev. T. S. Duggan, rector of St. Joseph's cathedral.

When Bishop Tierney entered upon his administration of the see of Hartford, there were 35 parishes in the diocese, at the present time, there are 106; there were 53 religious women in the diocese, now there are 121; there were 20 priests and today there are 200. The number of parochial schools has increased from 45 with 20,000 pupils to 75 attended by 32,000 children. The Catholic population of the diocese has increased from 200,000 to over 400,000.

FRONTENAC HOTEL

The Case Will Go to the Jury This Afternoon

The trial of the Frontenac hotel case on Friday. It is expected that the case will be given to the jury before the afternoon adjournment. The Waverly hotel case is next in order.

THE JURY DISAGREED

At the opening of today's session of the superior court in East Cambridge, this morning, the jury which sat on the Franklin hotel case reported that it could not agree upon a verdict, and accordingly was discharged. The case went to the jury at 10 o'clock Friday morning. The defendant in the case is James F. Holden.

FIREMAN KILLED

By the Explosion of a Boiler in a Tug

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 5.—Warren Stover, aged 20, of Brookville, a fireman on the tug Delta of the Knickerbocker Towing Co., was killed, and Engineer George Arrie, of Brewer, very severely injured, by an explosion of the boiler that occurred in the engine room of the tug this afternoon as she was just leaving her dock in this city.

Members of the crew immediately rushed to the boiler room and found Stover so badly scalded that he died within five minutes after being taken ashore. Engineer Arrie jumped into the river and swam to the steamer Tremont, anchored at her dock. Medical attention was soon on the spot and it was found that Arrie was badly scalded. He was taken to the eastern Maine General hospital.

CHURCH MUSIC

Change Went Into Effect in Catholic Churches Yesterday

With the services of yesterday in all of the Catholic churches of the archdiocese including those of Lowell, the Gregorian chant was inaugurated. Since the laws were received that the pope had suggested this form of music for the services in the churches, and especially since Archbishop O'Connell several months ago announced that the new regulations regarding church music would go into effect on the first of this month there has been a wide difference of opinion among the laity as to just what its effect would be on the personnel of the choir as at present constituted, and as to what changes would be necessitated to come within the scope of the letter.

In order that there should be complete uniformity in every respect and to obviate the possibility of any misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the regulations, a commission was appointed by the archbishop, which has already given full information to those who duty it is to see that the regulations are fully conformed to, and the musical portion of the service from and after yesterday will be rendered strictly in accordance with the board's instructions.

While the reform in the musical features of the service is a radical one, in some respects quite marked, there will be no such radical departure from present conditions as many seem to look for.

Perhaps that portion of the new regulations which applies to women singers has been considered more conjecture than any other feature of the change, for in this connection it might be said that the impression was quite general that female singers would no longer take part in the musical features of the services.

While the regulations are important insofar as the permanent introduction of Gregorian music into the service is concerned, and as to the far-reaching effect of the same, still there will be nothing so extreme as many people are inclined to contemplate.

The commission has named many of the masses which will be allowed to be sung, and although the list of these is an extensive one, it is said that there are some others not enumerated in the list which are also approved.

Among those approved of are those masses by Caprelli, Duranti, Forci, Kravutskich, Canali, Kretschmer, Rossi, Palestrina, Terry and numerous others.

There will, in the future, be many more choirs composed exclusively of male voices than there has been in the past in this diocese, but there will for some time at least also be mixed voices.

CIGAR MAKERS

To Hold Big Convention in Providence

The cigar makers of the New England states are to hold a very important convention, Oct. 1, 2 and 3rd, at Providence, R. I. The object of the convention will be to formulate plans for advertising the blue label. Matters of interest to the cigar makers and organized labor in general will be considered. Ex-Councilman Thomas F. Grady will go to the convention representing union 55 of Lowell.

STILL CLOSED

Boilers Not Set Up in School Houses

It is now the fourth week of the school session and the Elliot primary and the Central Street primary schools are closed. The boiler of the former school is in the cellar waiting to be set up, while the boiler in the Central Street school was today in the school yard. Both boilers by not being placed in position keep the pupils from attending the above mentioned schools as it would be a menace to health for the little tots to remain in rooms that were not properly heated.

EDMOND H. RYAN

Formerly of Lowell Prospering in Utah

Mr. E. H. Ryan, brother of Mrs. Albert E. O'Neil and Mrs. B. F. Early of this city is prospering out in Utah where he is district attorney for Utah county. Mr. Ryan is a self-made man. He worked as engineer for the Locks and Canals company and spent some time studying law in the office of Burke & Corbett, of this city, previous to his going west. Speaking of his trip for which he has again been nominated, the Milford Times of Beaver county, Utah, says:

It would be a hard matter to find a better man to fill the office of district attorney of the fifth than E. H. Ryan. He is broad-minded and ever at the word fall has never appeared in his vocabulary.

He has, during his eight years' residence in Cedar City, held the confidence and high esteem of all who know him, and has served from county and Cedar City as attorney for the past seven years in a straightforward and upright manner that is not to be soon forgotten by those who have placed their trust in his ability and superior judgment.

Mr. Ryan was born at Northfield, Washington county, Vt., November 1, 1868. He passed through the district and high schools of that place and entered Norwich University in 1888, from which he graduated in 1892, receiving the university gold medal for superior scholarship.

After graduating he went to Lowell, Mass., where he studied law until 1893, when he moved to Denver, Colo., and entered the law offices of the well-known firm of Stuart Bros. & Murray.

He came to Utah in 1896 and in 1898, having soon gained the confidence and respect of the people of San Juan county, they elected him county attorney. In 1900 he came to Cedar City and a year later was made county attorney of Iron county, which office he has held ever since.

Always a staunch republican, honest in his business dealings, and a thoroughly competent attorney, he has since coming to Utah, controlled one of the best practices in the state.

Mr. Ryan has a clear record that is hard to beat and the voters of the fifth can do no better at the coming election than to place a big X opposite the name of Edmond Ryan for district attorney of the fifth district.

HON. JOS. J. FLYNN

May Be Named by the Democrats for Congress

Convention Will Probably be Held on Thursday—Democrats Resent Action of Men Who Betrayed Them—Chairman Barrett Asked to Read Traitors Out of the Party

The democratic voters of the district are determined that Butler Ames' name will not go on the ballot as the candidate of the democratic party for congress. The chairman of the state committee has been communicated with and he says that according to the rules of the state committee the chairman of the congressional committee should have issued a call for the convention to name a candidate for congress, and that he should also have read this call immediately after calling the convention to order. This not having been done, the convention was illegal, and the time when the power of issuing a call for a new convention expired today. Therefore, according to the chairman of the state committee, it devolves upon the members of the state committee from this district to issue a call for a convention, and this will be done tomorrow. The members of the state committee who have this power are Edward Gallagher, Cornelius Cronan and James E. Donoghue, the latter of Lawrence. The convention will most likely be held on Thursday of this week, and undoubtedly the nominee will be Hon. Joseph J. Flynn of Lawrence.

That the democrats of the city, and especially the younger men, are thoroughly disgusted over the proceedings of last week was shown yesterday afternoon when a large meeting was held, and the Lowell men who took part in the affair were roundly denounced. At this meeting, a fund was raised, contributions of $1, $2 and $5 being received from the young men present, and this will be forwarded to the nominee of next Thursday's convention.

That Congressman Ames has been injured, rather than helped by the convention of last week, is the general consensus of opinion, and the men who took up Mr. Ames' battle on that occasion are now sorry they entered into the deal, if what they say is true. On all sides they are being severely scored, and while they may have believed at the time they did the work, that they were helping Mr. Ames, they realize now that they made the congressman weak in sections where he once had a good following. As a result of what happened at that convention, Chairman Barrett of the democratic city committee has been asked to expel from the democratic party those local men who voted for Ames' nomination. A list of the names of these men has been handed to him, and it has been put up pretty strong to him that it is his duty to read them out of the party.

GREAT LAND RUSH ON

DALLAS, S. D., Oct. 5.—The Tripp county land rush in the struggle for chances in the apportionment of 828,000 acres of the Rosebud Indian reservation began early this morning when notaries began writing applications under permission of Judge Whitten of the general land office.

SPIRITUAL DIRECTORS

At St. Peter's parochial residence, this afternoon, there was a meeting of the spiritual directors of the various organizations that are to participate in the eleventh division of the parade in observance of the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the diocese of Boston.

The meeting this afternoon was presided over by Rev. Fr. Ronan, pastor of St. Peter's church. Among the clergymen present were Rev. John Burns of the above named church, who is co-operating with Father Ronan to make a good showing for his parish in the parade. The other clergymen present were: Rev. John McRory, O. M. L., pastor of the Immaculate Conception church; Rev. Francis Mullin, St. Michael's church; Rev. Fr. Curtin, St. Patrick's church; Rev. John O'Brien, Sacred Heart church; Rev. Fr. Oganowski, pastor of the Holy Trinity Polish church, all of Lowell; Rev. Fr. Sherry, pastor of St. Mary's church of Ayer; Rev. Fr. Coghlan of Pepperell; Rev. Edward Schofield, pastor of St. John's church, North Chelmsford.

Among other business considered was the matter of the transportation of the various societies to and from Boston.

It is estimated that there will be at least 25,000 in line. Among the branches expected to make the largest showing are those from Cathedral parish church, St. Peter's and the Blessed Sacrament, all of Boston and those from Lowell, Lawrence and Brockton.

The route has not as yet been finally determined upon, although it is understood that it will be through the Back Bay section of Boston, where, at the end of the march, the line will be reviewed by Archbishop O'Connell and a number of other leading churchmen.

MONEY IS WASTED CASE SETTLED

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—More money is wasted by the city of New York in the purchase of supplies than in any other city, said Comptroller Herman Metz to the legislative committee which today began its work of probing the city's finances.

Mr. Metz, who was the committee's first witness, said that condemnation proceedings came next as causing the city heavy losses. He cited the case of the Harlem playground and said he knew of a special condemnation counsel who sat in connection with these condemnation proceedings and had drawn $200,000 since 1902 and was still sitting. He told the committee that he welcomed their coming.

SALEM, Oct. 5.—It was announced that the proceedings against J. H. Teneyck, Jr., who was arrested at Syracuse, N. Y., on a charge of larceny on complaint of the Salem police last week, have been discontinued. Young Teneyck was charged with the larceny of $1500 from Stephen Gauss, son of John Gauss of this city. Young Gauss alleged that Teneyck secured this amount from him unlawfully after the two had participated in a pool game in this city on Aug. 12 last. Teneyck's lawyer, came to town and paid $1000 to Gauss' father and also made payment to the city and county officials for all the expenses of the proceedings against Teneyck. As a result the charge was dropped. It is understood that young Teneyck maintains his innocence but that his father decided to pay the money in order to have the matter settled speedily.

EUGENE V. DEBS COMING

The Red Special, with Eugene V. Debs on board, will arrive in this city at 9.45 tomorrow morning, and Mr. Debs will be escorted to the South common where he will deliver a speech. The special will leave the northern station at 10.25 o'clock. Mr. Debs is the socialist candidate for president, and comes here under the auspices of the local organization.

BALLOON ASCENSION TOMORROW

Charles J. Glidden, accompanied by his brother, Merton N. Glidden, will make a balloon ascension from Springfield at 2.30 tomorrow afternoon. They expect to make a high trip and a long one.

MATRIMONIAL

A wedding in which Lowell society prominently figured took place this afternoon in the spacious residence of Mr. J. L. Chalfoux on Wilder street.

The contracting parties were Miss Helene Ada Chalfoux and Mr. Charles Abbott Stevens. The music room in which the nuptial rites were solemnized by Rev. C. T. Billings, pastor of the Unitarian church, was bedecked with floral adornments on an elaborate scale of splendor. There were banks of flowers while the chancel rail was adorned with white ribbon and smilax. Each pillar was decorated with white chrysanthemums. As a professional Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the orchestra and later Gounod's "Ave Maria" was rendered. The bride was becomingly attired in an exquisite gown of Empire style, with white lace trimmings, hand embroidery, pearl and diamond pin, the latter the gift of the groom. She wore ivory blossoms on her head and carried a bouquet. The bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth Chalfoux, was attired in pale blue chiffon, silver trimmings, and pink roses tied with blue ribbon. Mrs. J. L. Chalfoux wore a gown which was a marvel of the dressmaker's skill and art. The mother of the groom, handsomely gowned, was in the receiving line with Mrs. Chalfoux. Miss Doris McVester of Birmingham, Alabama who was in the receiving line, wore a gown of Louis Tulle Liberty with pale blue chiffon trimmings.

Following the ceremony all repaired to the dining-room, which was beautifully adorned with mounds of roses and lilies, while there were banks of greenery in which autumn leaves figured prominently together with a rich array of roses.

The ushers were: John Stevens, of Andover; Henry Conant of Lowell; John Davis, Lowell; and Paul and Harry Chalfoux, brothers of the bride.

A JAIL SENTENCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Thirty days in the city prison with no alternative of a fine, was the sentence imposed by Justice Olmstead in the court of special sessions on Charles Staples who had been convicted of oversteering an automobile. Staples who was chauffeur for President Bush of the Bush Terminal Co. had been convicted on two previous occasions. The patrolman who arrested Staples for the offense for which he was sentenced today informed the court that Staples deliberately tried to run him down when he tried to arrest him for speeding his car at thirty miles an hour on Broadway.

6 O'CLOCK FACTORIES CLOSED

Shoe Business in Lynn Threatened With Great Loss

LYNN, Oct. 5.—That the extensive shoe manufacturing industry of this city is likely to seriously suffer by the strike of shoe lasters was evident today when several of the factories failed to open and the managers of others declared that should the strike be still in progress when they had disposed of the orders on hand they would also suspend the operation of their plants. There were almost 1500 lasters on strike today, about an equal number of other operatives were kept from work by the closed shops and indications point to additional thousands being shut out before the end of the week if many more of the factories are closed.

The strikers note a great leaning in their favor on the part of many of the manufacturers who have announced their intention of withdrawing from the Manufacturers' Association, the body against which the strike was sympathetically directed because it included in its membership the Joseph Caunt Co. which committed an alleged infraction of an agreement between that company and the union in connecting with the employment of girls and the discharge of union members.

The board of trade through its president, R. S. Bauer, sought to arrange a meeting today with officials of the Joseph Caunt Co. talking to the settlement of the union's grievances and thereby averting the strike which appears now likely to become a general one.

SUPERIOR COURT

Civil Session Opened by Judge White Today

The October sitting of the superior civil court was opened this morning at ten o'clock at the court house in Gorham street. The docket is a very long one and the session promises to be tedious. Judge Lloyd E. White is presiding.

After the opening of court, Clerk Ralph Smith read the names of the jurors and later the oath was administered. Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham street Methodist church.

The reading of the docket occupied almost an hour's time. As a general rule at the opening of the session of the court in this city counsel are not ready with any cases for trial, and ask for a continuance from one to four or five weeks, but this morning the majority of the cases were ready for trial. Several cases were non-suited, while others which are in the course of settlement out of court were placed at the bottom of the list.

While motions were being argued one of the jurors, Benjamin F. Manning, of Reading, collapsed and had to be carried out of the court room. He recovered later however, and was made foreman of the jury in the first case.

Five of the jurors asked to be excused, namely: Bernard J. F. Doucette, Wilmington, who is hard of hearing and Edward F. Spaulding, of this city, who is ill in health. The other three were excused subject to call. The jury list is as follows:

Edward E. Adams, music teacher, Lowell; Arthur H. Batchelder, painter, North Reading; Charles E. Beaudry, organ piper, Reading; Joseph E. Blodgett, clerk, Billerica; J. W. Brennan, clerk, Dracut; John Brown, operation, Billerica; Joseph H. Cail, retired, Billerica; Walter S. Campbell, salesman, North Reading; George C. Carney, clerk, Dracut; Warren E. Carlin, engineer, Westford; Sydney Davis, farmer, Carlisle; William A. Delmage, janitor, Lowell; Bernard J. Doucette, clerk, Wilmington; Frank H. Farmer, farmer, Westford; J. Willard Fletcher, merchant, Chelmsford; C. J. Gendreau, wire worker, Dracut; Chester H. Graham, farmer, Burlington; William S. Green, mechanic, Ashby; William S. Jones, laborer, Tewksbury; James S. Kelley, clerk, Wilmington; Benj. F. Manning, nurseryman, Reading; John McCarthy, farmer, Acton; John Quinn, farmer, Tewksbury; George J. Rice, farmer, Tewksbury; George D. Richardson, painter, Ashby; Charles O. Robbins, farmer, Chelmsford; Joseph Rounis, farmer, Carlisle; Ruben B. Sheburne, assistant station agent, Tewksbury; Ormay S. Skelton, farmer, Burlington; Edward F. Spaulding, gentleman, Lowell; Herbert C. Stock, contractor, Reading; Herbert C. Sweetser, merchant, Chelmsford; James B. Tuttle, farmer, Acton; Joseph L. Wilde, warp dresser.

The first case called was that of Chalmersella vs. Boston Elevated. It is an action of tort, the plaintiff declaring that while driving a wagon through Somerville a car belonging to the defendant company ran into the wagon, knocked him from the seat, that he suffered great injury and is still troubled with injuries sustained. Inasmuch as the plaintiff speaks but very little English Prof. Intros of this city was pressed into service to act as interpreter.

PRISONERS GONE

Escaped From Jail in Vermont

NEWFANE, Vt., Oct. 5.—Three prisoners awaiting trial escaped from the county jail today and at noon were still at large. They were G. L. Spaulding, formerly of Greenfield, Mass. being held for Henry in Brattleboro, Eli Bartlett, held for a similar offense in Rockingham and Nicholas Anty, an Italian, for assault with intent to kill in Brattleboro.

WOMEN AID

IN THE FIGHT AGAINST THE WHITE PLAQUE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Great impetus today was given to the anti-tuberculosis cause in this country when the Federation of Women's clubs enlisted in the cause. With a membership of 500,000 women this organization's active support in the campaign of education was pledged by Mrs. Moore of St. Louis, the president of a public meeting of women's clubs at the new National museum where the tuberculosis exposition is being held. The speakers included besides Mrs. Moore, Mr. Rufus Williams of Boston, chairman of the health department of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

THE GENESEE CONFERENCE
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The Genee conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in the matter of charges preferred against Dr. Dyer, superintendent of the Central Methodist district by the Methodist Book concern today found him guilty of business irregularity constituting high impropriety and unministerial conduct and suspended him from his ministerial office until his allegations are met. The conference found that the charges of unchristian and immoral conduct were not sustained.

A CONSPIRACY

Seizures Made by Customs Officers

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The recent seizure of several lots of valuable gloves found in the possession of passengers from Italian ports convinced the local customs officials that they are on the track of a "conspiracy in gloves."

The majority of the prisoners in these glove seizures are Italians, some of them unable to speak a word of English and in every instance the port of departure for the goods has been on the Mediterranean. That some of these prisoners promptly were bailed out is considerable sums though they are not citizens or even have their residence in this country. In being a class of prisoners who almost invariably have to go to jail pending the trial of their cases is one of the features of the situation which the custom house people say has been very suggestive to them. In consequence "the man higher up" is now their guest.

LONGWORTH DENIES STORY

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 5.—Congressman Nicholas Longworth who was here today repudiated a story that he was making a campaign for the presidency by speaking at Rock Castle, Ill. He prophesied that after Mr. Taft had served two terms as president, that President Roosevelt would again be a candidate for the presidency.

SHERMAN IN INDIANA

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 5.—The battle of political speech-making is being waged today by James S. Sherman, republican vice presidential nominee in the enemy's country, the home state of democracy. Vice Presidential Candidate John W. Kern, Mr. Sherman will make a two hour stop at Muncie and short talks are scheduled at several places.

PRESIDENT BRUSH

May Take Baseball Fight to Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The statement was made here today with a claim of reliable authority that in case the national league directors uphold President Pullman's decision in the contested game and New York loses the championship thereby, J. T. Brush of the New York club will take the case to the civil courts the complaint being that the New York players and the club would be deprived of several thousand dollars because of the action of designating another club as the pennant winner.

GOV. HUGHES

BEGINS ANOTHER BIG CAMPAIGN TOUR

LACROSSE, Wis., Oct. 5.—Opening a speaking tour which for the present week is to take him through Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Missouri and Illinois, Gov. Charles E. Hughes of New York in a speech here today told why he had taken the stump in support of W. H. Taft for president. Despite the earliness of his arrival here the auditorium where he spoke at 8.30 a. m. was filled to overflowing.

Gov. Hughes' presence west of Chicago caused widespread interest. Still suffering from an affection in his stomach as he was expected to deliver fifteen addresses he would not be able to talk as loud as he desired.

"I have no feeling personally against Mr. Bryan," said Gov. Hughes, "but I considered it beyond question what he attempted to put into force. If he were to be in a position to enact into law any of his fanciful schemes to curb the trusts the country would be involved in financial and industrial disaster. None of his schemes has been tried. Theoretical and visionary they seem to have no place in American institutions nor in any institution that to endure must have a foundation of solid intelligence and experience."

"On the other hand Mr. Taft, I believe, represents all that is best in American ideals; he stands for purity in politics and what is more for purity in the enforcement of law. It has been said that when he was a judge Mr. Taft dealt harshly with the laboring man. I tell you what he did do. He dealt honestly with the laboring man and there is nothing which works for the interest of the laboring man more than honesty and justice administered from the judiciary. Mr. Taft is tried, experienced and absolutely incorruptible and it is for this reason that I am speaking in his behalf here today."

MADE TWO FLIGHTS

LEMAN, Oct. 5.—Wilbur Wright made two slight flights with passengers today. The demonstrations were entirely satisfactory.

EVANS COURT-MARTIALED

MANHATTAN, Oct. 5.—The court martial appointed to pass on the charge against Lieut. Frank Evans met today aboard the battleship Vermont. Charges and specifications were read and the court adjourned until tomorrow when the taking of testimony will be begun.

BULGARIA ACTS

PRINCE FERDINAND OF BULGARIA.

Declares Itself to be an Independent Kingdom

SOFIA, Oct. 5.—The proclamation of Bulgaria as an independent kingdom was formally made at Tirnovo today.

STOCKS AFFECTED

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The stock exchange was thrown into a flutter by the proclamation of the independence of Bulgaria and the action taken by Austria-Hungary with regard to the political status of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Consols fell 1/2 and foreign bonds about one point, due principally to continental selling. Turkish bonds which closed Saturday at 92 were today offered at 81 1/2.

ENCOURAGED BY GERMANY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5.—Turkey is convinced that Austria backed by Germany encouraged Bulgaria to declare her independence in order to strike a blow at the present ministry and compromise the new constitution. It is not known what steps Turkey will take but the impression prevails that a European conference will be held to consider the whole question.

Advices obtained from an authoritative quarter of Sofia are to the effect that only some of the powers supported the British proposal for the settlement of the railroad question. This want of unanimity among the powers encouraged Bulgaria to insist on her present attitude.

Varna and other Bulgarian towns are placated today with declarations that the moment has now arrived to proclaim independence as otherwise Turkey on the strength of the treaty of Berlin will demand the restitution of eastern Rumelia.

TO ACT AS MEDIATOR

PARIS, Oct. 5.—France has decided to enact the role of mediator with the object of preventing war between Turkey and Bulgaria.

Foreign Minister Pichon has already begun a series of conferences with the diplomatic representatives of the powers with the idea of reaching an understanding looking to the maintenance of peace when the official news of Prince Ferdinand's proclamation at Tirnovo arrived.

The foreign office conferred with M. Iswosky, the Russian minister of foreign affairs and Naoum Pacha, the Turkish ambassador, today. This afternoon he will meet the Austro-Hungarian, British and American ambassadors as well as the Bulgarian diplomatic agent, M. Stanchioff.

TURKISH ARMY NOT PREPARED

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—News was received at the foreign office last night that Turkey had been informed that Bulgaria was determined to proclaim her independence at Tirnovo today.

The Associated Press is authorized to state that Germany associates herself with the mediatory proposals submitted by the grand jury to the proposals submitted to Turkish and Bulgarian governments.

It is recognized officially that the Bulgarian matter gravely aggravates the situation but until the attitude of the sultan is known the German government is unable to see its course of action except that in no event will Germany bring pressure to bear at Constantinople to influence the decisions of the porte.

Should the Turkish government seek the advice of the powers regarding the advisability of asserting her supremacy over Bulgaria by military force, Germany would not be able to advise the porte to go to war. The Turkish army is not prepared; the Bulgarian is ready.

The Austro-Hungarian ambassador to Germany has arrived here with an autograph letter from Emperor Francis Joseph to Emperor William. This communication probably relates to the occupied provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

THE CREW RESCUED

Word Received of the Wreck of the George Sturgess

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 5.—Word was received here today of the wreck of the three master George Sturgess of the Magdalen Islands. The nine men comprising the crew were rescued by the Danish steamer General Consul and were landed at Cape Ray yesterday. The schooner became completely disabled as a result of the westerly gale and high seas and when the steamer came in sight the crew of the schooner signalled for assistance. The steamer stood by but it was impossible to launch a boat owing to the terrific waves. The Sturgess was in a sinking condition by this time and the men were desperate. Finally those on board the steamer succeeded in shooting a line to the schooner and these were made fast. With great difficulty and in imminent peril the nine men were hauled aboard the steamer one by one. The lines were then cut and the schooner was abandoned.

The Sturgess was bound for New York with a cargo of lathes. Her home port was Chicago.

PREPARING FOR WAR

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The Temps today publishes a despatch from Vienna saying that the Bulgarian army is marching towards the frontier and that the Turks also are moving forward to the encounter. Austria-Hungary is mobilizing two army corps.

WERE BURNED TO DEATH

YONKERS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Robert Cummings and her two grandchildren, Harry, aged three years, and James, aged ten, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed Mrs. Cummings' cottage today.

BREAK IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Prices broke with some violence at the opening of the stock market today as a result of heavy European selling induced by the political crisis in eastern Europe. Eastern securities were especially affected, although the entire active list went lower, losses ranging from 1/2 to two points. The decline which was accelerated by a bear drive, was arrested soon after the opening when a moderate rally set in.

CONGRESS OF POWERS

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—It is announced with authority Russia will propose with a congress of powers for a general revision of the Berlin treaty. This is an outcome of the promulgation of Bulgarian independence. Russia has reason to believe that the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary is imminent.

NINE LIVES LOST A. O. H. IS AROUSED

In a Fire in New York Early This Morning

By Certain Liquor Advertisement and Moving Pictures

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Nine persons lost their lives in a fire that occurred early this morning in a four story tenement building in lower Mulberry street.

The dead:

Dominick, Furchelli, his wife and three children, five, three and two years old.

Francesca Pastrolino, who boarded with the Furchelli family.

Mrs. Santino and her seven year old daughter.

Unidentified man.

The building was occupied by eight Italian families and there were fifty persons asleep in the building when the fire broke out. The fire started in a dry goods store that occupied the ground floor of the building. It spread with great rapidity and soon the whole inside of the building was a mass of flames. Many of the persons who escaped by the stairway were more or less burned, some of severely.

It is now believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Three barrels stuffed with rubbish and soaked with oil were blazing in the lower ball when the firemen arrived, cutting off the escape of the fifty or more persons who were sleeping on the upper floors. Some of these died in their beds where they were overcome by smoke and then caught by the flames. Others who had been aroused too late fell unconscious before they could reach a window and were burned to death, scarcely 300 yards length from safety.

Many were injured by jumping from upper windows to the street or by being crushed as they fought for positions of safety in the choked fire escapes.

That so many persons were killed and seriously injured was in part due to the carelessness of the tenants of the houses themselves and their disregard of one of the strictest tenement house laws which provides that fire escapes must be kept clear of obstructions at all times. When the frightened men and women rushed to the fire, many of them went ahead of the flames and found the fire escapes and the platforms covered with boards which could not be removed.

Frantic mothers and fathers tossed their children to friends in the street. Fully a dozen children, both babes in arms, and older youngsters, were tossed to the street from the second and third floors and were caught by men standing on the street. The men and women were later carried down by firemen on blankets.

There were many narrow escapes from death from the fire and a number of children were saved by being tossed from the windows into the arms of spectators in the street. At least six children were rescued in this manner.

That are Regarded as Reflecting on the Race—Action Taken Towards Putting a Stop to Such Exhibitions

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Central council of the A. O. H. were held yesterday in Hibernian hall, President Joseph Fahey in the chair.

Arrangements were made for the biennial meeting of the delegates to the county convention which is to be held in Hibernian hall on Sunday, October 11.

The advertisement of a local liquor dealer, which appeared in a local paper one day last week, when the members thought was a reflection on the Irish character, was discussed at some length and it was decided to have the secretary of the council confer with the dealer relative to the discontinuance of this particular advertisement.

It was also stated that one of the local moving picture houses had been running a series of moving pictures which the council considered very offensive and the secretary was instructed to notify the management that such offensive pictures should be eliminated.

The Hibernians throughout the state have been invited by Archbishop O'Connell to take part in the opening of the charity bazaar which opens on Nov. 11th. The first night is to be known as Hibernian night.

DENIS A. O'BRIEN
PRESENTED BOUQUET OF AMERICAN BEAUTY ROSES

Mr. Denis A. O'Brien, of this city who sailed for Roma Saturday where he intends to study for the priesthood was very kindly remembered by the members of the board of government of the Catholic Total Abstinence union just before the boat sailed. He was presented a handsome bouquet of American Beauty roses as a slight token of the esteem in which he is held by the board of government. The following members of the board saw Mr. O'Brien on his last visit: President Shea, Vice-President Mrs. C. Tilton, Secretary Stephen T. Ward and Recording Secretary Maurice Dineen.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 5.—With the booming of the guns from the battleships at sunrise today, the second day in the elaborate program for the celebration of the 225th anniversary of the founding of Philadelphia was ushered in. This is military day and the principal feature is the great parade of United States regulars, sailors and marines and the entire division of the Pennsylvania guard. Twenty thousand men will pass in review this afternoon with Major General Fred D. Grant as grand marshal. There were various interesting ceremonies throughout the day.

CATHOLIC NOTES

The monthly collection for the church debt fund was taken up at all of the masses at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday and quite a large sum was realized.

At both masses in St. John's church North Chelmsford, Sunday morning the annual coal collection was taken up.

A largely attended meeting of the Holy Name society was held in St. John's church, North Chelmsford, last evening at 6 o'clock and the members are making arrangements about taking part in the big Holy Name parade to be held in Boston in a few weeks.

Commencing this week, the clergymen St. Peter's parish are to take the census of the parishioners.

Rev. Fr. Ronan, has returned from Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he spent several weeks.

The Holy Name society of the parish is actively engaged on the preparations for the centenary parade on November 1. The society has been divided in companies of 24 men, and captains have been selected.

JUDGE TAFT

TO MAKE SEVERAL SPEECHES IN MISSOURI

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 5.—Just a parting word to Kansas with meetings at Kansas City and at Leavenworth and Atchison, and Wm. H. Taft will cross over into Missouri for two days of campaigning and then to Chicago to end his western trip Wednesday.

In Missouri today Mr. Taft will speak in St. Joseph, Maryville, Chillicothe and Brookfield with a meeting tonight at Macon.

The first meeting, that at Kansas City, was added at the request of the residents of that city. The trip across the river was made in an automobile. His speech was delivered from the steps of the public library and despite the early hour the crowd was too large for the voice of the speaker to cover. After the meeting the train was taken and the regular itinerary begun.

The board consists of Messrs. Heymann of Cincinnati; Mr. Dreyfus of Cincinnati; Murphy of Chicago; Elberts of Brooklyn and Dovey of Boston. All are present but Murphy

May Decline the Offer of a Bishopric

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, this city, who was elected the bishopric of the diocese of Washington, several days ago, may decline the honor, as did Bishop Brent of Philadelphia, who refused the position previously. The parishioners of Trinity church are very anxious to retain Dr. Mann and it is understood that the rector has assured several personal friends that as yet he has made no decision and will not until he confers with the committee of the week. The members of the parish appear confident that Dr. Mann will remain at Trinity.

McGRAW PLEASED

Says New York Will Carry Off Pennant

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—"The rest of the Chicago-Pittsburg game is pleasing to us," said J. J. McGraw, manager of the New Yorks, "and should be with Chicago now. I shall probably send White in today. Arrive on Tuesday and Mathewson on Wednesday. I think we have a good chance now."

If New York wins the three games to be played with Boston this week, there will be a tie with Chicago for the pennant, to be played off in the games.

HITCHCOCK CONFIDENT.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Chairman Hitchcock of the republican national committee said today that he expected his return from his coming trip to Chicago to be able to give out information that would show conclusively as he believed that the election of Taft and Sherman was certain.

The national commission announced today that Speaker Cannon, who was expected to come east shortly, will manage his own duties.

CONKLE HERE

He is Ready to Meet Young Prokos tomorrow Night

Charley Conkle, the Canadian wrestler, arrived in Lowell in the pink condition for his match with Young Prokos in Associate hall tomorrow night.

Conkle had been on the cars all night and naturally wanted some sleep, but was not averse to a few words to those who questioned him. Asked to what he considered his chances with Young Prokos, he modestly replied:

"They tell me that Young Prokos is a great wrestler. I believe that I trim him, however. If he wins, I'll be the first to take off my hat to him."

The continued case of William F. Hennessey, charged with the illegal transportation of liquor into Billerica, was called and the defendant appeared in court ready for trial. Owing to the fact that the attorney for the prosecution, John J. Harvey, was detained at supper that night, the case was again continued until Monday next.

There were eleven persons released who were placed under arrest either Saturday or Sunday for first offense of drunkenness.

The following were fined $2 each for drunkenness: Edward Coste, Harriet Sullivan, Herman York and Annie Malone.

The drunks who were each assessed $6 were: Michael Grogan, Eugene Gaudette, Joseph Dion, George Stevenson and Nelson Bashaw.

Reformatory Sentence

Edward J. Allen and Edward Brady, each charged with drunkenness and both having previous court records, were sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory. Both appealed.

On Probation

Luther J. Flynn had his sentence of four months in jail for drunkenness suspended for one year and he was placed in the custody of the probation officer as was Mary E. Roper for the same offense.

Henry O. Keyes, charged with assault and battery, by request of his counsel, Edward Fisher, had his case continued until Monday next for trial.

Runaway Girls

Two runaway girls were brought into the police station yesterday under the names of Lorena Franklin and Louise. The girls were about 16 years of age. They said they ran away from their home in New Bedford to see something of the world. They were sent back to the Whale City.

Wanted to Get Their Names on Voting List May Not Take Stun After All

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The first attempt of the New York suffragettes to have their names placed on the voting list of this city suffered defeat today when it women visited the registration booths and tried vainly to induce the registry clerks to record their names. No disorganizer accompanied the attempt. The women referred to the New York election law which states that an elector must be a male citizen.

The women consider this a campaign of education and it with the idea of making converts rather than as actually doing violence. They are now planning to keep up this work each registration day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—"President Roosevelt at present has no intention of taking the stump in behalf of Taft" is the way which persistent reports to the effect that he was to make a speaking tour are now denied at White House. The latest story on subject received at Lincoln yesterday by Mr. Bryan was that the president intended taking the stump and planning to make at least six speeches on a tour across the country terminating at San Francisco. This information was said to have reached Bryan from persons in the east who report reliance could be placed.

The report is due to several persons. When the matter first came to the ears of the president's secretary was unsuccessful but to the latest reports he has given somewhat qualified.

DEMOCRACY BETRAYED

Lawrence Paper Scores Men Who Voted for Butler Ames

The Lawrence Eagle of Saturday had the following editorial:

No more disgraceful proceeding in the history of the democracy of the 19th Century was ever recorded than the betrayal of the party by its accredited delegates at the convention at Lowell yesterday. Throwing their allegiance to the winds, delegates, registered as democrats and elected as democratic representatives, turned traitors and voted to endorse a republican for the high and honorable office of representative in Congress. The betrayal is all the more pronounced because this is a presidential election year when party lines are tightly drawn and the district democracy should have a candidate willing to make a contest for the seat and to help swell the vote for the presidential electors chosen by the democracy. But those delegates, under the leadership practically of William F. Kings, a former democratic adherent in the city of Lawrence, at one time a holder of a liquor license, a favor of democratic license commission at present chairman of the democratic city committee and an employee of the democratic water board, without regard for their party, went over to the enemy, body and soul.

Why did they do it?

Can it be that it was because they thought that in this district wherein thousands of democrats reside that they could not find one element who would go forth and give battle to the republican nominees? Was it because they were convinced that there is not a democrat in the district who is able to fitly represent it in Congress? Or did

TEXTILE GOSSIP THE "AUTO RACE"

Items Gathered From Excited Great Interest in Ward Two

FITCHBURG, Mass., Oct. 5.—The Shireffs Worsted Co.'s new weave shed at South Fitchburg has been in partial use for the past five or six weeks and will be complete just as soon as 24 more looms arrive and can be set up. This addition to the plant completes the general scheme which John Shireffs had in mind when the first set of buildings were erected, four years ago. Then the making of the worsteds was all in one building. The rapidly increasing business caused a gradual increase in machinery of one kind and another until the point was reached last fall and winter where the mill was constantly run overtime, and at that time the company had to have some of its work done outside.

MAY SELL PECK INTERESTS
PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 5.—Thomas D. Peck, who has been president of the J. L. & T. D. Peck woolen mills for 27 years, since the death of his father, admits, it is reported, that negotiations are in progress for the sale of his interests in the concern involving about $100,000 to Ralph T. Gillett of Westfield. The outcome of the deal will be definitely known some time this week. Mr. Peck does not intend to retire from his other business interests in the event of the transfer of his stock in the mills.

ADDITION TO GLORIA MILLS
HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 5.—The Muller Gloria Silk Mills Co. of South Norwalk has awarded the contract for the erection of a one-story factory, 40 by 300 feet. The building will be used as a weaving department. Work has begun on the additional factory which is to be erected by the Russell Manufacturing Co. of Middletown, makers of cotton goods. The building will be 50 by 100 feet of brick.

A. C. BLAISDELL
NOMINATED FOR REPRESENTATIVE IN 19TH DISTRICT

The delegates to the 19th representative district convention met Saturday evening at the republican headquarters in Central street and nominated Albert C. Blaisdell of Teesbury as candidate for representative.

There was no contest, and all the business of the convention was put through in about a half an hour. William H. Downs of this city acted as chairman, and the delegates were from Billerica, Teesbury and ward nine.

AMERICAN FLEET FRANCK T. EVANS

Has Safely Outridden a Son of Admiral to Be Court Martialed

MANILA, Oct. 5.—The American battleship fleet has safely outridden a hurricane which swept Manila bay for 12 hours and did much damage ashore. Typhoon signals were displayed early Sunday morning, but the storm broke over the bay suddenly at noon. It was impossible to hold the fleet together because of the danger of their smashing against the steel sides of the battleships and the little crafts were sent scurrying inside the breakwater into the Pasig river, where they remained all night. The storm quickly increased in intensity, and torrential rains shut in the ships.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Lieutenant Frank Taylor Evans of the battleship Georgia, son of Rear Admiral Robert D. Evans, will be tried before a court martial on board the battleship Wisconsin.

FINE PAINTINGS OWNED IN LOWELL EXHIBITED IN BOSTON

The crowning glory of the magnificent decorations of grand hall of the Mechanics building, where the great annual food fair of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association will be held for four weeks beginning today, will be the superb $100,000 paintings by the famous French artist, Paul Philippoteaux illustrating the whole career of Ulysses S. Grant. The paintings are the property of Orin R. Griffin, 250 School street, this city.

Took Game From the Tyngsboro Nine

Y. M. C. A. scored one in the first. Grant flied to short. Johnson singled and stole second. Phinney flied to right, and Wright singled, scoring Johnson. O'Brien fanned.

Tyngsboro scored in the fourth. H. Riley wormed a free pass and scored on Wheeler's bad throw to first, the ball bounding over the fence. Gaudette and Stone fanned. Harrington hit to Harris and was out at first.

There was very little in evidence until the eighth, when Wheeler singled and Grant followed with another single. Johnson scored both men on a two-bagger. Phinney doubled, scoring Johnson. Wright hit to Sharkey and was out at first. Harris singled, scoring Phinney. Cleary got hit by an inshoot, and Harris and Cleary worked a double deal. Roark singled and scored both men. Wheeler fanned, Y. M. C. A. T. Tyngsboro 1.

The result of the game leaves Y. M. C. A. and Mt. Groves tied for first place in the league. The deciding game for the championship will be played at Washington park next Saturday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—An event of signal importance will be the appearance of William H. Taft and William J. Bryan at the annual banquet of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Auditorium hotel, Chicago, on the evening of Oct. 7. The dinner takes place during the Deep Waterways convention, when the city will be filled with notables, including governors, senators and congressmen from all parts of the country, and many of them will be present at the dinner. Taft and Bryan will speak, but will confine their remarks to non-political subjects. Theodore P. Shonts, head of the New York traction lines, is also scheduled to speak, but his recent illness necessitates his remaining in New York. Mayor Cole, of Chicago, and the commerce association, will be toastmaster, and 1500 persons will be seated at tables. ## MR. TAFT'S BLUNDERS ON THE STUMP.

The outlook for Mr. Bryan's election is still good. Mr. Taft on the stump is making bad breaks. He shows a woful lack of accuracy of statement, something that seems very remarkable in a man who has occupied a seat on the bench.

If there is any training that should ensure accuracy of statement it is that of the bench. Yet Mr. Taft in discussing the tariff at Alexandria, Minn., made the following statement:—

The Gorman-Wilson tariff bill that laid everything low, that sent down prices of wheat below 50 cents, and that sent corn down to 21 cents; that sent oats down to 18 cents, and potatoes to 27 cents. Where are they now?—Taft at Alexandria, Minn.

The "statistical abstract of the United States" shows the prices of the commodities mentioned by Mr. Taft from 1894 to 1897, both inclusive, to have been as follows:—

	Wheat	Corn	Oats
	Cents	Cents	Cents
1894 .....	61	50.9	37.2
1895 .....	67	47.7	28.8
1896 .....	78	34.0	23.3
1897 .....	95	31.9	23.2

Such erroneous statements do not reflect credit upon Mr. Taft's judicial acumen. But that he is radically wrong in his general contention is shown from another source.

According to the government summary of commerce and finance from December, 1906, to May, 1907, with the Dingley tariff in full force, wheat sold for from 78½ to 84 cents, ten to fifteen cents less than the price quoted in the last year of the Wilson tariff, not because of the tariff but because of an abnormal crop.

Mr. Taft thus falls into the error of attributing to the Wilson tariff conditions that never existed; but the figures quoted above show that the price of wheat is not ruled by the tariff but by the law of supply and demand.

THE STATE TICKET.

Hon. James H. Vahey, whom the democratic party has nominated for governor, is a young man who has made a reputation in the legislature as representative and senator. His personal popularity is such that in his home district in Watertown he overcame a large republican majority and won his place in the senate. He is an able debater and well versed on state and national issues. He will bother Mr. Draper very considerably on labor and other matters on which the republican candidate is particularly vulnerable.

Should he be elected he would give the state an up-to-date and progressive administration. The rest of the ticket is very good, and it is gratifying to know that the whole ticket has behind it a thoroughly united party.

THE ENDORSEMENT OF AMES.

Can any of the recreant democrats who voted to give Hon. Butler Ames the nomination for congress say for a certainty that President Roosevelt, William A. Hearst or somebody else may not publish a letter before election day that will put the Lowell congressman down and out like Senator Foraker, and Foraker is as dead as the proverbial door nail.

The democratic endorsement of Ames would save him the expense of a campaign, a matter usually of some $10,000. This, together with the prestige of getting the endorsement of an opposition party, would be worth considerable to any aspiring republican, and it would also warrant very liberal compensation of the democratic traitors who sold out their party.

THE HAVERHILL CHARTER.

We are glad to see that the city of Haverhill has had the courage to take the lead in the matter of charter reform among the cities of Massachusetts.

Tomorrow it will vote upon the acceptance of a charter which is a modification of the Des Moines commission system, providing for a mayor and five members of the council to run the city government. All are to be paid; the mayor as the executive agent of the city will receive more than the others. The members of the council will be elected for two year terms, only a portion of the board retiring each year after the first election. The charter centres responsibility in such a manner that it will be much easier to keep track of the city's business in every department.

TO USE OIL AS FUEL FOR LOCOMOTIVES.

The use of oil instead of coal for fuel would remove the danger of forest fires from the shower of sparks that is regularly sent out from locomotives. If oil will serve to produce steam as well and as safely as coal there is no reason why it should not be adopted. The question is one of great importance to the whole country, for it is undoubtedly a fact that many fires ascribed to other causes are in reality due to the spark from the locomotive.

Many of the big corporations in different parts of the country are sending out slips to their employees on which to have written the political preferences of the latter. Those who are opposed to Taft will be dropped if they do not promise to vote the republican ticket.

SEEN AND HEARD

This tragic story comes from Connecticut, and it's about a very naughty individual of feminine persuasion who went on a debauch. Stories of debauches do not make pleasant reading usually, but sometimes the moral to be pointed is such that they can safely be printed. This is one of that kind of stories. It's about a poor thing named Bess. Some called her Bess Peter, because she lived on J. A. Peter's farm near Macedonia, but Mr. Peter is himself authority for the statement that Bess had been merely adopted by the family and had no real right to the name of Peter. Bess had been on the farm for a good while and had always conducted herself decorously. She was of a loving disposition—good natured, meek and obedient. She was somewhat clumsy and was never very much of a dresser, but in her own social set she was rated rather above the average in appearance and intelligence. This was the condition when one morning Farmer Peter missed Bess. He happened to need her for an important farm duty just at that time and he set about finding her. The neighbor of horses and the mowing of cows in the lower pasture attracted his attention and he turned his feet in that direction. He found Bess, all right. She was laboring under a "load" as big as a mountain and having the time of her life, much to the discomfort of the cows, horses and other live stock. She was energetically chasing the animals around the pasture when Farmer Peter made his appearance. When he tried to interfere, she only laughed at him. So he went back to the house, thinking she would get hungry pretty soon and come in. Evening arrived, but Bess didn't. So the farmer went back to the pasture. All was as serene as a bank director's meeting. The farmer searched the field, but Bess was not there. Finally, just as he was about to cross to the road, he came upon the object of his search on a steep bank of the Pequabuck river. She was lying there in the cool evening, calmly watching the water. The farmer cried away. "She'll come in after awhile," he said to himself. He had not gone fifty feet, however, when he heard a splash. Returning, he discovered that Bess, overcome by remorse, had jumped in the river. He was unable to reach her and while he stood helpless on the bank she sank for the last time. The funeral was held the next day. Thereafter Farmer Peter began an investigation to discover where Bess had obtained her intoxicant. His search ended in the orchard. There, under the trees, he found quantities of partly decayed apples. Bess had indulged in and, being a cow, she didn't know, of course, that fermented fruit is dangerous. Perhaps Bess' jag was dying out and she may have thought that the river flowing at her feet was "Green river," a very popular brand in Lowell.

An Illinois woman has obtained a patent on a needle that can be threaded by blind person. The needle is split from the top of the eye so that the thread may be easily slipped into it. The slit is then automatically closed and clamped. This will do all right for a blind person; now won't some kind-hearted woman please invent a needle that a man can thread?

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Tolstoi, in his own home, on the day of his jubilee, is depicted in the account C. Haggberg Wright gives of his visit to the great Russian writer as the bearer of the English congratulatory letter. "This is a very precious mark of esteem, very, very pleasant to me," Tolstoi said. "It is well, indeed, to receive such demonstrations on one's 80th birthday; if one received them at 30, one would really imagine one's self to be a person of some importance." Out of the 1000 and more messages received, the venerable writer appeared to take most pleasure in an address from the waiters of a music hall in Moscow. Dinner on that memorable day was at 5 o'clock, the party numbering 20. Tolstoi himself was wheeled into the dining room and ate his dinner with us. We drank his health quietly, and after dinner one or two of us had a little talk with him. Tolstoi finished the evening by playing a game of chess with a friend.

According to the inventory of the estate of the late Charles H. Bond of Boston, who died early in July of this year, the total value of said estate will not exceed $800,000 in both real and personal property. This total is much smaller than had been estimated, the statement having been made at one time that Mr. Bond had left an estate of at least $1,500,000. In view of the figures disclosed above it seems more improbable than ever that the trustees will continue the work of building what Mr. Bond had planned as the Lyric theatre on Tremont street, corner of Baxter place. The estimated cost of this theatre building was $500,000. At present nothing is being done on the site, the original contractor having withdrawn.

The world's record for a baby globe trotter is held by Kathryn L. A. G. Morgan, who, though only eight years old, has traveled 25,000 miles, or more than eleven times around the globe. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Morgan, formerly of Chicago, whose business interests have taken him into all parts of the world.

Captain Edward J. Campbell, judge advocate general of the navy, has been detailed by Secretary McCall to make a tour of inspection of the naval prisons at Portsmouth, Boston, Mare Island and other points. Incidentally he will visit various state prisons for purposes of observation. He started from Washington, Oct. 1st.

Young Marshal Field, grandson of the late famous Chicago merchant of the same name, is a student at Eton college, England, where he has displayed unusual talent for oratory. He is a member of the Eton debating society and has been elected to represent himself for political life. Every year hereafter he is to spend some months at Washington, learning as much as possible of political affairs in this country.

Dr. Schumacher, an exchange teacher of German, will be at the Institute of Technology this year. His appointment was by the ministry of instruction of the Prussian government, at the suggestion of the Carnegie Institute. Professor Conrad Brinkmann of Prussia is to conduct a course in conversational German at Yale this year under the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching. Dr. Brinkmann is a teacher of long experience and in Prussia has the rank of "ober-lehrer." He is the first of the teachers to come to America from Prussia under the foundation.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

New York Journal of Commerce: The two great expenses of manufacturing are labor and materials. The high price of labor is sometimes offset by its great efficiency in this country and by the far more general use of machinery. There is no such way of offsetting the higher cost of materials when enhanced directly or indirectly by customs collections. Here is a point at which immense relief can be extended to manufacturers, some of whom are dimly and others clearly conscious of it.

The manufacturer is benefited on one side by the duties of his product he is burdened on the other by duties on his materials. Many manufacturers told the tariff commission of 1892 that they would ask no protection if they could get the duties off their materials. That has been repeated by a good many in the last two or three years. The net benefit of the tariff to the manufacturer is small and in many cases it is nothing, and manufacturers are growing more and more conscious of the fact. Four-fifths of the benefits of the tariff go ultimately to the material men who are not obliged to divide with anyone, the owners of such gifts of nature as the mine and the forest, and the sellers of such a crude natural product as wool, which is grown mainly upon the cheap lands often parts of the public domain, in the mountain states and territories.

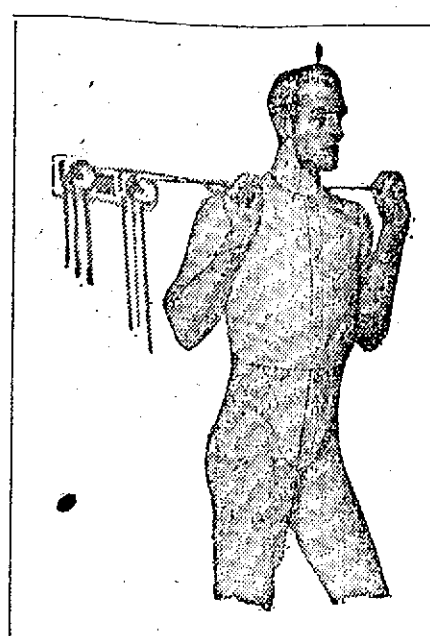

FATALITIES IN COAL MINES Foster's Democrat: Accidents in coal mines of the United States during the last calendar year resulted in the death of 3125 men and injury to 5315 more, according to statistics just made public by the geological survey. The death record was greater by 1033 than in 1906 and is said to have been the worst year in the history of coal mining industry. The figures do not represent the full extent of the disasters as reports were not received from certain states having no mine inspectors.

WHERE LETTERS ARE NEEDLESS New York World: Mr. Roosevelt dismisses Mr. Bryan's letter as "stupid" and "an attack upon his reputation." Therefore there is "no reason why he should answer it." For this relief much thanks. Let us return to the issues of the campaign which are not personal but political.

PRESIDENT'S OUTBREAKS Providence Journal (rep.): Ordinarily the dignity attaching to the presidential office suffices to protect the incumbent from those verbal attacks to which in the heat of political campaigns lesser personages are exposed. But in this extraordinary contest Mr. Roosevelt's own excited participation has invited the reiterations of the objects of his executive censure; so that we find Governor Haskell of Oklahoma bestowing upon him such choice epithets as "four-flusher," "rascal" and "negrophobe." Considering all the circumstances, the president cannot justly complain. He has chosen to use his exalted place for the purpose of mere partisanship, and in so doing he has not confined himself within the limits of discreet epistolary composition. His recent letters have been couched in the language of the stump; and if, as was rumored yesterday, he intends to take the platform before the close of the canvass, his appearance in the role of spell-binder will hardly exceed in impropriety his performance up to date.

5000 AT GREGOIRE'S MILLINERY EMPORIUM REVEALS THE SEASON'S DELIGHTS

More than 5000 persons visited Gregoire's millinery parlors, Friday, and more than 5000 pairs of hungry eyes were beauty fed. You know the occasion, of course. It was the Fall opening and the beauty was contained not only in the gorgeous display of hats but in the store arrangements that bordered on the magnificent. The splendidly appointed store, the courteous, gracious ladies so patient and agreeable in the display of beautiful creations together, orchestral music and surroundings in general filled the atmosphere with beauty and content.

It was not an occasion for the rich alone. The poor as well as the rich gathered there for there were hats and prices to suit the high and the lowly and there were none too poor to be given the utmost attention.

Madame Gregoire has surrounded herself with a bevy of beautiful girls, charming in manner as they are in appearance and it was these gracious persons who answered all questions and told all about the beautiful hats. It was generally conceded to be the best millinery opening ever held in Lowell, even surpassing anything before attempted at the Gregoire millinery parlors.

Words as they come to the mind are hardly capable of describing the beauty of the hats within the walls of this splendidly appointed store. It would require a plethora of adjectives to describe the wondrous beauty of the hats. There were some called it a "wonderland of hats" and that, in a general way, describes it. But the words are not sufficiently expressive to cover the whole. They do not express the genuine beauty, the distinct originality of the hats. To the masculine scribe who visited Gregoire's millinery parlors Friday evening the loveliness of everything within the walls of the establishment appeared because there was there displayed the finest handwork of man and woman, enhanced by the beautiful plumes from the tropics and the prettiest flowers from pole to pole. If the counters had been stripped of their beautiful hats there would yet be left the beauty of the store to admire and, as to the hats, there was that indescribable something that stamped them Gregoire's own; a something that could not be duplicated and a touch of refinement in finish that appealed even to the untrained masculine eye. To describe them would require the skill of a millinery artist and we candidly avow our utter inability to make even a decent attempt.

Spalding park, Saturday afternoon, was the scene of the initial game of the season on the gridiron for the Lowell High football team, and its members covered themselves with glory from start to finish. The opponent of the Spaulding City team was the much heralded Wellington academy team of Milton, and they not only received a good drubbing but were made the recipient of an excellent kindergarten lesson as to how to play the five points of the game, thanks to the careful and painstaking tutoring of the highly efficient coach, Tom Mahoney, of the Lowell team. From the observers point of view the game was decidedly spectacular, and the Lowell team closely approached perfection, especially the work of the backs. Most of Lowell's scoring came in the first period of the contest.

In the second half the Lowell team presented a new lineup of second string men which gave the visitors a slight look in at the game, that is to say, they scored one touchdown, a safety from the coat of kalsomine which would have been their position had the original team remained intact throughout the game.

Whenever Lowell got possession of the pigskin the forward pass and trick plays were prominent and contrasted with the old style playing of the visitors with straight plunging through the center and other stunts which have been relegated to the past, the Wellington team were made to long for the proverbial "fifty cents." The visitors were again deficient in punting. For instance, Captain Rooney broke through the line, succeeded in blocking the punt, and fell on the ball which had rolled over the goal line, capturing the first touchdown after three and a half minutes of play. O'Donoghue missed his kick, and the score stood 6-0.

Wellington after Lowell kicked off received the ball on its 20-yard line and was unable to advance it. The visitors punted and Lowell then took possession of the ball on her own 30-yard line. A forward pass, neatly worked by Hyman and Canney through center, netted 20 yards, and then Canney signaled for a forward kick. The ball became lost in the muck, and rolled behind the goal line, and was taken up by one of Wellington's players, constituting a touchback. The visitors then punted out from their 15-yard line and the Spaulding City boys advanced the ball 18 yards, passing with it on the forward pass. Here the Wellington team made its distance for the first time in the game, but lost the ball right away quick on a fumble. Gargan carried pigskin 11 yards. Canney added 10 and Canney took it over the line for the second touchdown. Rooney kicked the goal. Score 12-0.

After receiving a blow in the head during a scrimmage, Collins, the hustling right half back of the visitors, was taken out of the game and Sawyer, a muscular and steady individual supplanted him.

After receiving the ball from Lowell on the kick off, Wellington was compelled to punt, and this after a loss of 20 yards, from an attempted forward pass. O'Donoghue caught the punt, and ran 15 yards before he was downed. Canney ripped off five yards, and Hyman caught a beautiful forward pass for a gain of 15. After one more forward pass, Canney carried the ball over the line for the third touchdown. Score 18-0. Rooney failed to kick the goal. Just after the ball was put in play again time was called announcing the end of the first period.

Second Period.
In the second period, within five minutes of play the fourth and last touch down of the Lowell team came. The latter, however, was penalized 15 yards because the ball touched the ground on the forward pass before Hyman could get it. This was on Wellington's 20-yard line, and it took him three plays to send the leather over the line. Canney, making the touchdown. Score 22-0. Rooney kicked the goal. Score 22-0.

Here the subs of the Lowell team began to take the places of the regular men as Coach Mahoney was well satisfied that he had the game clinched. When twenty yards from their opponents' line, the Wellington boys blocked forward pass, and Butler, the full back of the team, made the solitary touch down for the visitors. After this there was no more scoring, the final result being Lowell 22, Wellington 0. The lineup and score:

ment as Coach Mahoney was well satisfied that he had the game riched.
 From twenty yards from their own forward line, Wellington blocked the pass of the Eglers, and Foster, the full back of the team, made the brilliant touch down for the visitors. After this there was no more scoring, the final result being Lowell 22, Wellington 13.

SILVER WEDDING

Observed by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Walker

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher C. Walker of North Billerica observed the 25th anniversary of their marriage Saturday night at their home in Talbot avenue. More than 100 guests were present including relatives and friends from Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Andover.

Between four and nine o'clock an informal reception was held and the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends.

Lunch was served and a musical and literary program was carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker were the recipients of numerous presents. The happy couple were united in marriage in Billerica, Oct. 5, 1883 by Rev. William Farron, who was then pastor of the North Billerica Baptist church. They have resided here ever since.

Mr. Walker was born in Warrington, Lancashire, England, in 1861 and came to this country in 1881, coming directly to North Billerica. He entered the employ of the Talbot mills as a spinner and later was made night watchman for the concern, a position he still holds.

Mrs. Walker was Mrs. Anne Barnes previous to her marriage, and was born in Melbourn, Australia, but moved to England with her parents when very young. She came to the United States in 1880. Four children have been born to the couple, two boys and two girls, all of whom reside in North Billerica.

$2500 REWARD

Offered for Return of Certificates

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—A reward of $3000 has been offered by A. B. Turner & Co. brokers at 21 Milk street for the arrest and conviction of Richard F. Parker, who, it is alleged, on Sept. 10, obtained $33,000 worth of bonds from the firm on a forged certified check, and the return of the bonds.

The firm offers $500 for the arrest of the man and $100 for the recovery of the bonds. The bonds are listed as follows:

$5000—Northern Pacific—Great Northern joint gold bonds, Burlington collateral 4 per cent, 20-year, due July 1, 1921, Nos. 72,002, 72,021, 72,020, 72,019, 72,018.

$5000—Oregon Short Line refunding mortgage 4 per cent, 25-year gold bonds, due Dec. 1, 1924, Nos. 4355, 1499, 1459, 1458, 1457, 1471.

$7000—American tobacco company, gold 4 1/2, due Aug. 1, 1951, Nos. 13,753, 11,678, 52,518, 44,753, 69,767, 65,765, 66,997.

$6000—Central railroad of Georgia consolidated mortgage 5 1/2, due Nov. 1, 1945, Nos. 2315, 2445, 15,392, 16,535, 16,594, 16,855.

$8000—New York Central & Hudson River railroad gold debenture 4 1/2, due May 1, 1940, Nos. 28,711, 28,712, 28,713, 28,714, 28,707, 28,706, 27,731.

Chief Watts said yesterday he had no idea of the whereabouts of Parker. A man was arrested at Chatham the other day on suspicion that he knew something of the case, but he was released later.

"THE LION AND THE MOUSE"

At the Opera House next Thursday Henry B. Harris will produce Charles Klein's greatest play, "The Lion and the Mouse," a drama which has achieved the greatest success in theatrical annals in the past ten years. The premiere production of this piece was given in Boston four years ago and was played at the Lyceum theatre, New York, for months without a single break which is a record on other production can boast of, as at some time during the summer, other attractions have been compelled to close at least for a period of two to four weeks.

It may be said in truth that "The Lion and the Mouse" is the greatest play of the American stage today. The public have long been waiting. It appeals because of its vivid picturing of these phases of life which are today on everyone's tongue and because of its absolute truth. The cast includes a number of players especially selected by Mr. Harris for the presentation of this great drama.

FINE PRODUCTION

"The Devil" at Opera House Tonight

Henry W. Savage's solo authorized production of "The Devil," will be seen for the first time in this city at the Lowell Opera House tonight.

"The Devil," is the allegorical comedy that has created so great a sensation in New York, where Mr. Savage presented it for the first time in America in mid-August, at the Garden theatre, that has won similar complete triumphs in Philadelphia, Chicago and other important cities and that for two years has been the reigning success of continental Europe.

"The Devil" is by Franz Molnar, one of the best-known journalists and publicists of Hungary, whose fame as a dramatist by virtue of this play, is not exceeded by any living writer. The adaptation into English is the work of that brilliant writer of satirical humor, Oliver Herford, author of "The Cynical Calendar," and in the opinion of metropolitan critics is Mr. Herford's ablest work.

"The Devil" is a satirical comedy which pictures in daring fashion the struggle of the soul that is within us, personified in the figure of the devil, to overcome the instincts toward righteousness that are similarly within ourselves. The lesson is that none dare play with fire, that no person shall hold too great a pride in his powers to resist temptation. The whole theme—a theme that is wonderfully human and gripping, is treated in terms of the most sparkling wit and humor, with every touch of diabolic and sardonic fun.

Herr Molnar's unique conception of this Prince of Darkness wears none of the conventional signs of what might be called his trade. There is no horned, pointed horn, cloven hoof nor ar-

ma of burning brimstone. This devil is an eccentric, fantastic, caustic, sardonic creature who might readily pass as a man-of-the-world, a polished, cultivated brilliant human being, were it not for certain traces of the supernatural that crop up from time to time to establish the fact of his real status. Nor is this devil a figure solely of menace. He is a wit, a satirist par excellence, a dashing figure who captivates all by reason of his cleverness, his daring, his intellectual power.

As for the play itself, it is first and always a comedy, possibly one with bitter moments, but never a sombre psychological drama. Nor are the purely human characters lacking in interest and importance. No mere appealing figures in modern stageland are there than Karl and Olga, John, Biss, Hofmann and the several other principal figures in the story.

Mr. Savage's high repute as one of the chief producing managers in America is a repute so brilliantly established with his great productions of grand opera and of light opera on the one hand, and of the best in the drama on the other—bespeaks the complete worthiness not merely of this fascinating play, but of the manner of its presentation as well.

A distinguished company comprising such eminent players as W. L. Abington, Edmund Egan, F. Percival Stevens, William J. Gross, Jane Oaker, Catherine Calhoun and Marguerite Snow, conceded to be one of the finest acting organizations of recent seasons, is engaged. The scenic equipment is an exact replica of the beautiful setting given the play in Vienna and Budapest, while the absolute correctness of the interpretation is assured by the fact that Mr. Savage had come to this country specially to stage the play. Herr Julius Herzka, director-general of the famous Volks-theatre, Vienna, probably the ablest producer in all Europe and also a personal friend of the author's and that person's collaborator in the making of the German version of "The Devil."

The engagement at the Lowell Opera House is limited to tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday evenings, with a matinee on Wednesday only.

HATHAWAY'S THEATRE

From opening act to pictures, the show at Hathaway's theatre this week is a vaudeville gem, and a treat in store for patrons of the popular playhouse tonight. Every number is of headline importance, and the whole makes up a program that would look well in any metropolitan theatre. First to be mentioned among the many noteworthy acts on the stellar program is "In Dreamland," a heavy and beautiful comedy, presented by Emmett Devoy, and a comedy company. As far as detail of production is concerned, this act is more extensive and intricate than any other dramatic offering the presentation of which requires more than two and a half to three hours. The company numbers five, exclusive of Mr. Devoy, and there is a complete scenic production. For the creation of the numerous illusion effects, which are a feature of the act the services of two electricians are required. A number of the properties used are of such a nature that they had to be built especially for the production, and must be transported from place to place. This, while giving twenty minutes' entertainment, Mr. Devoy is obliged to attend to nearly as many business details as would be the case were he the star and leading manager of a large dramatic production. The success that has accompanied his presentation of "In Dreamland," however, has repaid him well for the heavy strain put upon his resources. For Devoy does not only act, but he directs, and his emotional, in the sketch, Heronine Shone is charming in the role of a daughter of Venus, and Allen Goodwin plays the part of a neglected wife skillfully. Hal Douglas is amusing in the role of a bossy old boy.

Just the mere mention of the name of Charles F. Simon is enough to arouse interest, and to a state of pleased expectancy. Mr. Simon is a richly talented and titled of "America's most famous musical comedian," and his drollery is as inevitable. He possesses a figure that has the general proportions of a soda straw, and his extreme action often forms no mean portion of the entertainment. Every move made by "The Soda Straw" as Mr. Simon calls himself, is funny, and his musical abilities, after a heavy and dramatic performance, are a source of laughter. Peter and Harris, premier comedians, give an aerial act that is remarkable for the daring of the feats attempted, and the ease and sureness of their accomplishment. Alice Gilbert, comedienne, has a sweet voice and a winning way, and her magnetic personality will insure her the favor of all Hathaway patrons. Harry Knight & Co. will give pleasure with their charming musical act. "The Clank of the Chain," the action of the play takes place at a country store and is set in the winter time. The sketch, which was written by Una Clayton, combining comedy and pathos that are deftly mixed. Harry and Wagner are a duo of dancers who learned all the tricks of the catalogue and then invented many of their own. Their repertoire being amazingly unlimited, and their grace of movement making the exhibition most pleasing. Miller and Miller, two men who possess fine voices, contribute a delightful singing act. New and interesting moving pictures complete the bill.

TWO SMALL FIRES

Called Out the Department Yesterday

The alarm from box 125 at 6:45 Sunday evening was for a small fire in a house in Lewis street, near the Greek church. An overturned lamp was responsible for the fire and the damage was slight. Shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the department responded to a telephone alarm from the lower part of Rogers street. It was a grass fire and didn't amount to much.

STAR THEATRE

Business is surely on the boom at the Star, which no doubt, is due to the high quality of the shows. It would be hard to find a show anywhere to equal it for the money.

This Jim Henry, monologist, singing and dancing comedian, who is well known and a great favorite in Lowell, made the bill this week. His popularity and ability are sure to bring large audiences.

Babe Curry will be heard in "Take Your Girl to the Ball Game." While J. Bell, will sing "When Sweet Marie Was Sweet Sixteen." Not the very latest, but among the best.

Some excellent comedy pictures are on exhibition and making a hit. The latest "Travellerette," "In Curious Japan," is very interesting and instructive.

FUNNYLAND

Today's feature in Funnyland is a thrilling dramatic picture entitled "Revenge vs. Duty." This picture is one that tells of a fireman's life in a most thrilling manner. The hero is married and his wife and little child are apparently happy, but a slick stranger induces the wife to elope with him. The fireman takes his child to a neighbor and resolves to forget his wife. An alarm of fire sounds and he with the rest of the force responds. He goes into the burning building only to find his wife and her lover unconscious from smoke. His revenge is here and he leaves them to their fate. Once outside his conscience troubles him and he is at a loss to decide between revenge and duty but the latter triumphs and he goes back into the burning building and rescues the man and his wife. Later she comes to him asking to be forgiven but he refuses and devotes his life to making his little girl happy.

JEWISH FEAST

Of Yom Kippur Observed Today

Beginning with the Kol Nidrey last evening and ending with the solemn blast of the Shofar at sundown today, the Day of Atonement will be celebrated by all the Jews of Lowell, both orthodox and reformed. Services will be held in the synagogue on McIntyre street and also in the three synagogues in Howard street.

This day of Yom Kippur is the most important in the Jewish calendar marking the end of the penitential period, which began with the celebration of Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year referred to in length in the Sun of Monday last.

Among the orthodox Hebrews, Yom Kippur is kept as a solemn fast. For the full 24 hours there is no eating and drinking, and the time is spent in prayers for forgiveness of the sins which have been committed during the year.

There will be four sets of prayers.

DEATHS

MAXWELL—Charles S. Maxwell, postmaster of North Billerica, died last night at 8:30 after a brief illness. Deceased was one of the best known men in Billerica, having lived there for nearly 40 years. He was born in Baltimore, Md., and came north with his parents during his early boyhood.

Maxwell had the reputation of being one of the best baseball players in the state and was identified with some of the fastest independent teams in New England. For years he played second base and captained the famous T. R. & T's when that team was first organized, being one of the mainstays of the club during the time he was connected with it. Later he played with the celebrated "Hoods" of Lowell, being captain of that team. He also saw service with the clubs that represented Medford, Marlboro and Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Maxwell was appointed postmaster of North Billerica by the late President McKinley in 1898. Previous to that time he was employed as a dresser in the Talbot mills. Deceased was a member of Danforth lodge, Knights of Pythias. He is survived by a wife, three daughters, Misses Florence and Cora Knapp, 56 Royal street, on Sunday evening, aged 22 years. He is survived by his father, Orrin Dore, one brother, Albert Dore, and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Chabourne and Mrs. Mabel A. Knapp.

CLARK—Fannie Maria Clark, aged 35 years, died this morning at 107 Clark road. She was the daughter of the late Joshua Clark and is survived by one sister and five brothers. She was a former teacher in the Highland school and was a highly esteemed member of the High street. Congregational church. Funeral notice later.

SAUNDERS—George A. Saunders, aged 73 years, died yesterday at Dr. Fitt's sanatorium in Dracut. He was an old resident of Lowell and will be remembered as a former member of the firm of Mellor and Saunders who at one time conducted an establishment on Prescott street.

WIGGIN—Susan A. Rogers, widow of the late Joseph H. Wiggins of Manchester, N. H., died in Tewksbury Centre on Friday.

LAWN—William Eugene Lawn, aged 1 year, 2 months, son of Hugh A. and Julia Lawn, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 18 Third street.

MASS. POLICE ASSOCIATION
The Massachusetts Police association convention will be held in Lincoln hall this city, on Wednesday, Oct. 14. In the evening the delegates will be tendered a banquet by the Lowell police officers at the New American House.

CASEY—John Casey, aged 8 months, died last night at the home of his parents, William J. and Bridget Casey, 4 Sullivan court, off Fenwick street.

MURPHY—Mr. John Murphy, a well known and respected resident of Centralville, died Sunday evening at his home, No. 73 Third street, aged 60 years. He is survived by three sisters, Margaret and Ann Murphy, and Mrs.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

HON. JOS. DEVLIN, M.P.

And Rev. Mr. McGee of Ireland
May Visit Lowell

They Are to Address Meetings in Leading Cities of This State in the Next Two Weeks

The executive committee of the United Irish league met last night and considered a communication from the national secretary, Mr. O'Callaghan of Boston, relative to having Hon. Joseph Devlin, M. P., and Rev. Mr. McGee, a Presbyterian minister from Ireland, come to Lowell. These two gentlemen will have a couple of weeks to remain in Boston and the national officers have expressed the desire to have them speak in a few of the leading cities of this state. It was decided to call a special meeting of the local branch for Thursday evening to consider the matter.

It was Mr. Devlin who addressed the meeting from which the local branch was organized six years ago. He has many admirers in Lowell who would be glad to hear him.

Rev. Mr. McGee has been a member of parliament and is an ardent home ruler. He addressed the national convention in Boston and won great applause for his forcible statement of the situation and his strong sympathy with the national aims of the Irish people.

The meeting Thursday will be held in A. O. H. hall and all the members are requested to attend.

The record of achievement by the Irish party during the past four years has been wonderful and there is nothing now to stop its progress towards complete home rule. The fact that the Imperial Unionist association is to introduce a home rule measure modeled on the lines of the Irish council's bill rejected by Ireland last year, indicates what progress has been made.

The lords have obviously come to the conclusion that home rule of some kind is inevitable and they are getting ready to make a makeshift measure of their own that they will not reject last year; but their bill will not go. The commons will have none of it. The lords must yield and inasmuch as they passed the Irish university bill there is little reason to doubt that they are fast coming to the point at which they will have to concur in the passage of a real and comprehensive home rule measure.

The strong support rendered by the Irish people of this country will strengthen the hands of the Irish party and enable them to make the movement a more potent force in shaping the political destinies of the empire.

500 PERSONS IDLE

As Result of the Low Water in St. Albans, Vt.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Oct. 5.—About 500 persons were thrown out of work in this city today as a direct result of the lowering of the city's water supply following the almost unprecedented drought. The city water comes from Fairfax pond and is stored in two reservoirs. The upper reservoirs have been dry for some time and in the lower one the water has been going down steadily until today it measured only 11 feet, 9 inches. To guard against a shortage which would be serious in case of fire the city council decided to cut off from the water service some of the largest consumers and today the water was taken away from the Central Vermont railway headquarters including the large shops, the Van Camp Condensed Milk Co. and the Green Mountain Canning Co. Between 300 and 400 men have been employed at the Central Vermont shops which were closed today for an indefinite time. The Van Camp company, which employs 50 hands, will close its plant tonight and it will not reopen until an artesian well, which is being dug, can be placed in operation or until the city water supply is restored. Only 25 persons have been working at the Green mountain factory but 50 were to be taken on in the near future to can apples. The factory is closed today and it is not known when it will resume work. Heavy showers in the middle of last week maintained the level of the lower reservoir for a time but the water soon resumed its decline.

LABOR LEADERS

Talk on the Ravages of the White Plague

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Dr. Lawrence Flick of Philadelphia delivered an encouraging address yesterday at the new National Museum, where the tuberculosis exposition is being held in connection with the International Congress of Tuberculosis, which adjourned Saturday. Yesterday's meeting was in the interest of labor and was one of a series to be given this week.

The speakers were Dr. Flick, John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; Frederick L. Hoffman, an insurance statistician, and Joseph Freund, president of the Workmen's Insurance office, Berlin.

Dr. Flick emphasized the part society should play in the great work of stamping out tuberculosis. Calling attention to the fact that what is wanted is the spread of knowledge we now have on this subject and an application of that knowledge, he said, the rest is easy.

John Mitchell, who presided, enumerated some of the obstacles to greater progress in the promotion of health and the eradication of disease and said that they were due to the attitude of many employers, who resist the enactment of laws for the prevention of accidents and the promotion of health, and who comply with such laws with the greatest reluctance. Of equal importance, Mr. Mitchell declared, are housing conditions in large cities. He said in part: "To the men of learning and science who have gathered in this capital city from all quarters of the globe the working people of America turn with expectation and confidence. In common with all other factors in society, we are alive to the importance of those already afflicted, but we are even more concerned in regard to measures which will prevent infection and stop forever the spread of this disease."

"Immunity from infection and relief from those things which predispose working men and women to consumption must be brought to them in the places in which we live and work. It is, of course, a source of gratification to know that those more favored by fortune who are victims of this disease may find relief in other climes; but the men and women of toil are compelled by circumstances beyond their control to remain not only in the community where they contracted the disease, but often are obliged to continue in their employment until they succumb to its ravages."

"It would be unjust to say that employers or landlords should be blamed for all the evils which affect and threaten the lives of the working people. The danger may be minimized by the application of simple and natural rules of life and conduct, and to the extent that education and agitation may offer relief, it is the duty of the working people to take advantage of the practical suggestions which are made for their guidance, and to follow the advice given for their benefit."

President Gompers declared that union workmen are less susceptible to tuberculosis infection than non-union men, because the union shops are superior in sanitary appliances to

other shops. The death rate from consumption among non-union men is 100 per cent. greater than among union men, he said.

Statistics were presented by Frederick L. Hoffman, showing that the death rate from consumption among wage-earners in this country is 77,000 out of 22,000,000.

Dr. Freund spoke of the compulsory insurance of laboring men in Germany. The most important element for a successful campaign against the disease, he added, is the insurance of invalids.

He has served as an officer of several of the recent national irrigation congresses, and is prominently mentioned for the presidency of the next congress. He was president of the first national drainage congress, and attended the president's conservation gathering at Washington. He was also one of those who accompanied the president on his trip down the Mississippi in connection with the movement for deep waterways.

THE GILBRIDE COMPANY

Has a Fine Display in a Variety of Lines

While the Gilbride company is not making any pretense of having a formal fall and winter opening like many of the other establishments, yet their windows were trimmed in a very artistic manner, and the costumes on exhibition could not be surpassed. The interior of the store had every appearance of a busy bee hive, and the display of ladies' wear was all that could be desired, and the prices were remarkably reasonable. The cloak and suit department, which is on the second floor, was very largely patronized by the ladies who were out inspecting the other stores and ended by making their purchases here.

The domestic department in the basement was loaded with blankets, comforters, and everything necessary for house furnishings.

This is certainly one of the leading dry goods establishments of Lowell and the high standard of their goods will maintain the reputation they already enjoy of being the most up-to-date store in the city.

MILLINERY OPENING

Hard & Garland, at the corner of John and Merrimack streets, held their fall and winter opening Friday and Saturday. This is their second season at this store, and it certainly looked like prosperity there. Their millinery parlors are very centrally located, and their reputation as milliners has brought them to the front in a manner that might be considered as a matter of fact. Their display this year was even grander than last season, and judging from the patronage they received they must be highly pleased with the attendance and patronage of former customers and the public. When you want the correct thing in millinery you should call at Hard & Garland's.

Stage Beauties Seen In New Dramas

Lillian Russell In "Wildfire," Hattie Williams In "Fluffy Ruffles"

(From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.)

THE stars are flocking back to the metropolitan boards in overwhelming numbers. He who would keep track of the new productions should engage a secretary and confine him exclusively to the task. Mary Mannering in "Glorious Betsy," Lillian Russell in "Wildfire" and Carlotta Nillson in "Diana of Dobson's" are among the new attractions. Miss Mannering has played to large business in "Glorious Betsy" on the road for upward of two seasons. Mrs. Rida Johnson Young built for her a drama of the "historical novel" type—that is, a smattering of more or less inaccurate history and a burdensome plenitude of romantic imagery, which is the soul mate of dramatic license, combined in varying proportions. But it was certainly Miss Mannering, and not the play, that attracted large audiences on tour, and it is her personality that will give the play whatever New York vogue it attains. In fact, the production can be summed up by stating that Miss Mannering scores a decided personal success in her Lyric theater performances.

Story of the Play.
"Glorious Betsy" tells of the career of Betsy Patterson of Baltimore and Jerome Bonaparte, youngest brother of the great Napoleon.

When Jerome Bonaparte came to this country he met the glorious Betsy, who was the most glorious girl within a hundred miles of Chesapeake bay. He poses as a poor French tutor and fastens a strangle hold on the intermittently torrid affections of the blue ribbon beauty of Baltimore county.

Betsy literally wallows in the hallowed joys of sanctified adoration until that awful day when the naughty Emperor Napoleon decides that Jerome shall become king of Westphalia—where the horns come from. It is a matter of history that Jerome Bonaparte was by imperial edict thrust headlong into marriage with the Duchess of Westphalia, but Mrs. Young overcomes a little faux pas like that with ridiculous ease.

She simply decides that Jerome did nothing of the sort, and she supplies him with a return ticket that brings him "back, back, back to Baltimore" in time narrowly to escape smothering to death in the loving embrace of the impulsive Betsy.

Napoleon I. himself appears in the person of Claude Brooke. Jerome was played by George Howard in an ardent manner. In an ingenious role Helen Macbeth fits and flutters to and fro in effervescent fashion.

Miss Russell in "Wildfire."

In "Wildfire," at the Liberty theater, Lillian Russell has a play by George H. Broadhurst and George V. Hobart, evolved from a one act vaudeville sketch by Hobart, entitled "Peaches."

The play is full of action, and Miss Russell completes an ensemble that cannot fail to win. "Wildfire" is a racing play and meets practically every demand of votaries of stage realism.

GRACE ELLISTON.

FAMOUS STUDIO SCENE IN "THE DEVIL," BELASCO THEATER, NEW YORK.

The beautiful Miss Russell, looking as youthful and radiant as she did fifteen years or more ago, fills the hearts of her hundreds of worshippers with admiration and the brains of envious women with the query, "How does she do it?"

Miss Russell is seen as Mrs. Henrietta Barrington, a dashing widow who has to perform all sorts of feats of sentimental jugglery with a pair of energetic lovers and a heavy villain. Likewise and pre-eminently, she has on her hands that wonderful running horse Wildfire, which ultimately, in a hard won race, wins for the widow sufficient money to put her back on the pedestal of financial stability. Oh, it's a splendid thing to own a race horse—on the stage!

How the "Heavy" is Foiled.

The "great situation" is where the villain is thwarted in his design to notify the jockey to pull the race by Miss Russell, who cajoles him half out of his senses and finally grabs from his nerveless fingers the handkerchief meant for the signal. It was a transparent little scene, but Miss Russell shone so brilliantly through it that the man who runs the Liberty curtain was kept busy for ten minutes attending to his duties.

Frank Sheridan plays Matt Donovan, a horse trainer, true to the actual traditions of race track life, and Ernest Truax makes a hit as a little negro jockey.

"Fluffy Ruffles."

Hattie Williams is at the Criterion theater with "Fluffy Ruffles," a play based on a series of newspaper features.

The play is a musical melange written by John J. McNally, who did all the Rogers brothers' plays and who has for a score of years been identified with works of this sort upon the American stage. The music is by W. T. Francis and Jerome Kern. Mr. McNally's play is based upon the job getting and job losing experiences of Fluffy Ruffles. The young woman loses her situations through no other fault of her own than her personal attractiveness, which draws so many men to the shops in which she is employed that business has to be suspended.

Mr. McNally introduces the young woman in American surroundings, then takes her to London and completes her romance in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris. The most conspicuous member of her company is George Grossmith, Jr., who comes from the Gaiety theater, London, for this engagement. It is his first appearance in America since he was here with Edna May in "The School Girl."

Frederick Triggles

ADE'S LATEST PLAY.

George Ade has delivered to Cohan & Harris the complete manuscript of "The City Chap," a new comedy, in which that firm will present Jack Norworth late in the autumn. Mr. Ade looked over the scene models and pronounced them perfect. "The City Chap" has as one of its characters a "Some two years ago," continued type of modern negro, to which the dramatist has given long and comical thought. "The role was written with Willie F. Swann in mind, and so pleased was he with the characterization that he signed a contract, farmer himself could not keep back with Cohan & Harris. A strong company is being engaged, as "The City Chap" is to have an unusually elaborate presentation.

DANDY ON DAKOTA FARMS.

J. Hayden Clarendon, who played Artie in "The Prince of Pilsen," is thoroughly English, and Jess Dandy took pride in impressing upon him the wonderful resources and magnitude of the country. During a trip of the company across North Dakota, Dandy called Clarendon's attention to the great Dairymple farm and, by way of illustrating its immense acreage, remarked that a firm hand would start out in the spring and plow a straight furrow till fall and then turn around and harvest the crop on his way back.

his tears as he embraced them and said goodbye.

"Where was he going?" said Clarendon.

"He was going halfway across the farm to feed the pigs," Dandy replied.

"Did he ever get back?" Clarendon inquired.

"It isn't time for him to return yet," Dandy replied, gazing stolidly out of the window.

SHORT STAGE NOTES.

Klaw & Erlanger have engaged Edna May Spooner to play a leading part in a play of Kentucky life called "The Mountain Boy."

Beatrice Prentice is appearing in "The Call of the North" with Robert Edeson.

W. J. Ferguson is to be Fritz Scheff's principal comedian this season in "The Prima Donna."

Four Close Pennant Races Revive "Frenzied Baseball"

IN addition to topping all records in the way of attendance and receipts, the big league baseball season now closing has brought about more excitement and uncertainty than any year within the memory of the oldest inhabitant of the twenty-five cent bleachers. In short, the day of "frenzied baseball" has again dawned in the land.

In four prominent leagues the pennant races bordered on the nerve-racking stage much of the campaign. In the National and American leagues the final issue has not yet been officially decided, and later comes the world's championship series between the two major league pennant winners. But in the Eastern league and the American association the schedules have been completed.

Eastern League Fight.

The struggle between Baltimore and Providence, with Newark trailing, gave the Eastern league fans all for their money that they could possibly expect. The Baltimore were materially strengthened by the acquisition of Sam Dicklin, better known as Sammy Strang, formerly utility man for the New York Nationals. Nicklin was put in second at Baltimore.

The Providence Grays were very fortunate in the successful pitching of Ralph Glaze, who leads the team's list of winning pitchers, and Jack Cronin. Cronin won two games in one day for Providence, and the Rochester were his victims. He thus won the sobriquet of "Iron Man of the Eastern League."

In fact, the pitching throughout the Eastern league has been of high class, as witness the fact that on Sept. 15 only one man in the entire circuit had a batting average of over .300. He was Right Fielder O'Neill of Montreal.

American Association.

The American association closed its seventh annual championship race in a blaze of green diamond glory. During the latter part of the season Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo were the prominent pennant favorites. Louisville and Indianapolis got so close together that a postage stamp would have covered both teams. As a result, baseball ruled the roost in these two cities as it has never done before. Two former Pittsburg players contributed considerably to the strong finish of the Kentucky Colonels. They were Henrie Peitz, catcher, and Swadina, who was deposed from the Pirates' first base because of an indisposition to avoid costly errors. Minor league medicine apparently rejuvenated Swadina's system. The former big league pitcher, Ed Siever, performed ably in the box for Indianapolis. He was the man the Colonels most feared.

As a result of these four close finishes, including the two three-cornered contests in the National and American leagues, the baseball public has been threatened with brain fever, and, after all, perhaps it is a good thing that the head cooling fall weather is due in various parts of the country.

Versatile Moran.

Moran, the St. Louis Nationals' new catcher, is something of an all around performer. He broke into the big leagues as a pitcher five or six years ago and was on the Cardinal hurling staff at that time. He was too wild to pitch, so was tried on third base and then let out to the minors. Since then he has learned to catch and returns in that capacity.

Ty Cobb's Vanquisher.

Bailey of St. Louis is the one pitcher of the American league who can hang the Indian sign on Ty Cobb, the league's champion batsman. Bailey has pitched four games against Detroit this season, and in eighteen times at the bat Cobb has made but one hit on his delivery, and that of a Texas league variety.

Lajoie's Protege.

Napoleon Lajoie's pet, Pettie Powers, the lad who acted as Cleveland's mascot from 1902 to 1904 and who is being educated at Lajoie's expense, has developed into a big boy and a corking good amateur ball player.

Trolley Boom Baseball.

There is a new factor in baseball which is doing wonders toward organizing leagues in towns and villages. It is the trolley line. Trolley leagues are springing up in every direction. On some lines of electric railroad there may be half a dozen teams. The fare from one extreme of the system to the other is so small that the players can easily afford to pay it, and they are encouraged to put up small grounds and small stands, not without any particular desire for revenue, but with the idea of affording summer amusement to the places in which they live and

JOHNNY KLING AT THE BAT.

While generally considered the best baseball catcher in the country, Johnny Kling of the Chicago Nationals is also a thoroughly reliable batsman. As a pinch hitter he has few superiors. As shown in the photo, Kling has an easy batting pose and one that permits of a powerful shoulder swing. Kling catches more men who attempt to steal second base than any other backstop in the country.

Ten years from now the United States will be covered with a myriad more of trolley leagues, from which it may well spring some of the great players of that epoch in professional baseball.

That the eastern racing season of 1905, which is drawing to a close, has been a financial failure for the horsemen no one will doubt who has attended the meetings recently, as the attendance has dropped to insignificant proportions. Take the running of the great Futurity this year, for instance. Usually one of the best drawing cards of the entire season, when it was run off this year there were something like 9,000 people present to witness the great event. Of course the fact that betting is not allowed at the tracks now is the reason for the slim attendance, and track owners have been pouring back a steady stream of the money they have made out of racing in previous years.

Under the circumstances turfmen are not paying nearly one-quarter as much for horses as they did a year or two ago. Only recently Hermis, for whom E. R. Thomas paid L. V. Bell $50,000, was sold for $300. In the prosperous days of racing Hermis would have brought from $10,000 to $15,000 anyway. Now comes the announcement that James R. Keene, Harry Payne Whitney and August Belmont have engaged training quarters in England and France for next season. Many of their horses are entered in the big stakes to be run abroad. Keene, Whitney and Belmont are three of the pillars of the American turf, but with the departure of their horses to foreign shores it looks as if the deathknell of racing in the east has been rung.

CHARLES E. EDWARDS.

The national baseball commission, which will have to consider the Welmer case, will soon get a chance to take up the Sebring matter again. Sebring is in Cincinnati now and will present a plan for reinstatement. Sebring has repented of the offense that led to his banishment to the outlaw league and comes with the plea that he be permitted to earn a living in regularly recognized baseball society. He has been released from the Harrisburg club in the Tristate league, with no hope of playing baseball unless he is restored to good standing by the commission. His necessity and his regret for misbehavior will be the foundation of his plea for restoration. He states that he is on the reserve list of the Chicago National team and hopes to join that team.

JOHNSON AND BURNS.

Jack Johnson, the American negro pugilist, has signed articles for a fight with Tommy Burns, the American champion, the fight to take place in Sydney, Australia, in December and to be for the championship of the world. The terms of the match provide that the winner shall receive $20,000 and the loser $20,000.
